CONGESTION OF FREIGHT SHOWN BY GREAT FIGURES

Even a Partial Presentation of the Embarrassment Pittsburgh Has Suffered the Past Season Is Something Astounding.

MANY CAUSES GIVEN TO EXPLAIN SITUATION

Mr. Alexander Johnston Cassatt is in Pittsburgh today. The name of Mr. Cassatt is a familiar one to Pittsburghers. He is president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and by virtue of that office has absolute control, not only of all the lines of the great Pennsylvania system, but of those belonging to the Baltimore & Ohio company as well.

Mr. Cassatt was born in Allegheny. It is to be presumed that, in shaping the policy of the vast properties under his direction, he will, as far as possible, favor the interests of the section whose air first filled his infant lungs, and to whose industries he looks for a very large part of the revenue of his different railroads. It is pertinent, therefore, that Mr. Cassatt, during his visit to Pittsburgh, should be informed as to the disabilities under which this region suffers for want either of adequate railroad facilities, or of proper handling of existing facilities, or both.

That the Pittsburgh district has suffered losses to the amount of many millions of dollars because the railroads have been unable to deliver raw material or remove finished product promptly is known of all men. That the railroads have lost profits that would have accrued from the movement of this freight is certain. Some of the cost cannot be expressed in dollars and cents because it represents the wear and tear of delay, the straining of relations and the vexation of spirit.

Causes of the Congestion.

All shippers do not agree in detail concerning the causes of the congestion which has prevailed with greater or less intensity since last July, but which has been mitigated during this month. All railroad men do not agree exactly upon the causes or the remedies. But everybody agrees there have been congestion, irritating delays and heavy losses. No one doubts existing demand for the utmost output of which Pittsburgh industries are capable and the difference between productive capacity—deducting operating difficulties and actual shipment—represents, approximately, the shortage of transportation facilities.

Iron and steel manufacturers alone, not including all in the district, report the following figures on shortage of material, restriction of output, losses and expense: Raw material needed but not delivered, 1,375,000 tons; value of product that should have been made from this material, $12,750,000; profits to manufacturers not realized about $2,500,000; labor in Pittsburgh district deprived of wages about $5,000,000.

Records Prove Enormous Figures.

Enormous figures, but accurate! They are shown on the records of operating companies. This tonnage not moved represents to the railroads at least $700,000 gross earnings not realized. Railroad men can figure for themselves the loss in net earnings. Large as the amounts named are, they are far from the total loss. Delays cost money. Canceling of orders after goods have been manufactured entails loss. Rehandling of material and product imposes expenditure.

The first named item is not easily computed. The concerns reporting the above return the item of rehandling, due to lack of shipping facilities at not less than $140,000. Other items that cannot be computed are the shutting off of blast and the banking of furnaces, though there is no doubt these things increase repair accounts as well as the danger of operating; shifting of furnaces from mixture that is wanted to material in stock to avoid shutting down; deterioration of material loaded and held on sidings.

An Astounding Grand Total.

If all of these losses could be figured out and put in one grand total the aggregate would be astounding. This is in only one line of manufacture and does not cover all of that. The losses to some other manufacturers and shippers will be presented by The Gazette in a day or two and will be hardly less impressive than this exhibit. Even merchants and jobbers have suffered from the same conditions as manufacturers and heavy shippers, possibly not in the same degree, but in the aggregate seriously.

The business men of the Pittsburgh district have borne their losses with what patience they might sumon. They have not complained unduly. But they are earnestly anxious to know when the restriction upon their energies and the development of their resources is going to end. It is not strange that some of the manufacturers have been looking at locations elsewhere that seemed to be more favored in the matter of transportation, though there can be no doubt they would prefer to remain here.

EXTENT OF FREIGHT BLOCKADE MADE CLEAR

Incidents and Comments of Traffic Managers and Shippers Throw Light on the Situation.

A few incidents and the comments of traffic managers and shippers may serve to make more clear the extent of the freight blockade and to suggest how it may be remedied or prevented in the future. The desperate straits of last winter may be illustrated by the experience and correspondence of a Chicago manufacturer who ordered a car load of carriage bolts for immediate delivery. When the car failed to arrive in reasonable time he grew nervous. He wired the manufacturer. The latter wired back: "Shipped bolts 10 days ago."

The carriage manufacturer then began to wire the railroad authorities, stating his urgent need of material. In the course of two weeks he received this message from the railroad operating department:

"Have found your car. It is No. 84, siding No. 9, ——— yard. Expect to be able to get it out and started in three weeks."

To this the carriage manufacturer wired the reply:

"Glad you have found my car. Owing to delay to date and prospect ahead, may I ask you to kindly transfer cargo to a good refrigerator car so the bolts will not spoil."

Five or six weeks for freight from Pittsburgh to Chicago has been a common experience, even in cases where special movement was requested for good reasons, and shippers or consignees have not always been as pleasantly sarcastic as the Chicago man quoted above.

Language Has Been Wasted.

Language strong enough to move a loaded car has been wasted in vain attempts to get cargo and motive power in useful conjunction. What is past cannot be changed, but it is of value in determining what may be done to prevent repetition. Among the opinions of many men may be found the wisdom for guidance in the future.

The traffic manager of one leading corporation said: "The trouble has not been a shortage of cars, but a lack of movement. The remedy is more motive power, better yard facilities and quick action. We have waited from one to two weeks to have loaded cars moved less than two miles. Had those cars been delivered we would have been glad to unload them at once and so make them available for another cargo. There were cars enough, but the trouble has been to put them where they were needed."

Another traffic manager put it this way: "The trouble has not been so much a shortage of cars as a shortage of motive power, yard room and team tracks. Of what advantage is to have a four track railroad if there are not enough engines to keep the tracks busy?

Lake Season Rush Is Feared.

"And what good will it do to have a four-track road pouring 100 trains a day into a yard where there are barely enough unloading tracks to dispose of the contents of 25? More motive power and more terminal facilities will solve the problem. Property is expensive in Pittsburgh, but will never be cheaper. The railroads have been slower in appreciating conditions than the producers have been. When they got behind they found it difficult to catch up and I fear the rush of the lake season will swamp them again."

Still another sufferer said: "There has been a shortage of cars, engines, terminal facilities and railroads. Everything has been short. Pittsburgh ought to have as many railroads as Chicago, or Omaha, or St. Louis, or Toledo, for it has more tonnage than all four put together. If there were more competition and less 'community of interests' there would be better service, more locomotives, more cars, more sidings and more movement."

A shipper who has had years of experience declared: "There has been practically no development in facilities in our territory for 10 years and our own development has been hampered. Conditions have not bettered with the 'community of interests' as we had hoped they might."

Expansion Has Been Phenomenal.

A vice president of a large manufacturing concern said: "I sympathize with the railroads. There has simply been a phenomenal expansion. In justice to their stockholders the railroads have not been able to meet its full extent. Our customers have been disappointed, of course, but they have been lenient. We have been disappointed and ought to be lenient, too. We live in a glass house and do not want to begin throwing stones."

The head of a great corporation spoke calmly as follows: "Undoubtedly there has been a great congestion in this district. I should think the loss of profits would be sufficient argument to set the railroad managers at work to remedy the state of affairs. Our loss is easily computed in goods sold but not delivered, and it is considerable. We have suffered less than some others. I think some of the difficulty has been due to bad management in handling the traffic and some to failure to appreciate, in time, the magnitude of the wave of prosperity. I do not want to name any one, but some of our railroad men in Pittsburgh are not cut on large enough lines and some others are incapable of mastering the details necessary to handle our enormous traffic smoothly."

Opinions of a Railroader.

An ex-railroad man said: "Lack of motive power has been the principal cause of the inability of the railroads to meet the emergency. Insufficient terminals is second in importance. Shortage of cars is more apparent than real. A glimpse at the various crowded yards and sidings tends toward the conviction that there have been too many cars, though every manufacturer in this district has been driven to distraction because there have not been enough material or empty cars delivered to him. Lack of executive ability in places has added to the turmoil.

"The Pennsylvania has an unfortunate rule that advancement in the operating departments is only open to engineers, a rule imposed by the late President Roberts. So great a system needs to draw from every source, from every line of its service to obtain all the good material it needs. Engines running 'light' in both directions and the carrying of cars past their destination are indications of weakness in executive details."

Poor Judgment Shown.

The traffic agent of an iron and steel concern said, among other things: "It was not the best of judgment for the railroads to begin extensive track work in every direction at once, just when confronted by an extraordinary demand upon their resources. It seems to me it would have been better to keep one avenue open to its fullest capacity while enlarging another, instead of hampering both with construction work at the same time."

A railroad man who would not allow the use of his name said: "The railroads should have been preparing for war in the time of peace. Track work should have been done extensively when the financial depression was on and labor was cheap. Locomotives and cars should have been procured. But even railroads and their managers have limitations. Stockholders clamor for dividends, hard

THOS. S. BIGELOW HAS A MEETING WITH COL. QUAY

J. O. Brown Denies That Local Delegates Are Pledged to Elkin.

HAS NO CONTRACT WITH GOV. STONE

Senator M. S. Quay concluded his western engagements last evening and returned to Washington. Before leaving he had a long talk with Thomas S. Bigelow. The Pittsburgher says that the conference will not alter his position in local politics.

Recorder J. O. Brown emerged from his shell yesterday long enough to declare that the friends of Elkin had no right to claim any delegation from this county. They are to be delivered to the candidate who will be of the greatest assistance to the local organization.

The other important developments in the western political situation yesterday concerned Westmoreland county. Controller John H. Brown announces that the eight delegates from there will follow Senator M. S. Quay. James S. Beacom is just as positive that they will vote for John P. Elkin for governor. The strange thing is that both of the Westmoreland leaders declare that they do not expect a contest for delegates.

Bigelow Sees Quay.

Senator Quay spent another day in Pittsburgh receiving callers from this county and points all over the western end of the state. The most important of these was Thomas S. Bigelow. It was thought that he would not see Col. Quay, but late yesterday afternoon he changed his mind and spent over an hour with the man from Beaver.

When Mr. Bigelow left the senator he said that politics had formed a small part of their conversation. When asked if Quay had questioned him about his choice for governor Mr. Bigelow said that the matter was not discussed. He admitted that they did talk about the local situation. The Pittsburgher says that nothing occurred at the conference to change his position in the county fight. He is still wedded to the Citizens party movement and expects to aid in the contest this fall. From what can be gleaned from Mr. Bigelow it is not his intention to mix in the delegate election. He will not help Elkin, neither will he assist in getting votes against him.

Brown Says He Is Free.

After a season of silence of long duration, J. O. Brown has consented to be interviewed. He was found at Republican headquarters yesterday afternoon where he was in consultation with County Chairman A. C. Robertson concerning the committee meeting today.

"Have the friends of Elkin any reason to believe that they will get the votes from this county?" was asked.

"I have never told anyone that the local delegation would be for Elkin," was the reply.

"Is it true that you have a contract with Gov. Stone to deliver the delegates to Elkin?"

"I do not have a contract with Stone, Elkin or Quay. When all of the bees are out of the bonnet and we know that the crop of candidates for governor has been harvested, the Allegheny delegates will make a choice. It is also untrue that I saw Elkin or Stone when they were here."

"When that selection is made, will the idea of what will be best for the local organization be kept in mind?"

"That will be the governing idea."

"Have not all of the Allegheny county delegates been slated?"

"They have not been. The various district organizations have made suggestions but these are subject to change."

"What will be done at the meeting of the county committee?"

"The rules will be changed to allow for conventions the Monday following the primaries instead of Tuesday. There will be no other business. All of the nominations will be made in June."

Brown Promises Westmoreland.

Controller John H. Brown came to Pittsburgh yesterday in response to two telegrams sent him by Senator Quay. He had a short talk with the senator and afterward said that the Westmoreland delegation would support Quay, and he did not think it would be necessary to make a fight. James S. Beacom was also in Pittsburgh yesterday. He says that Cols. George F. Huff and L. B. Huff and W. C. Peoples have declared for Elkin.

S. B. Cochran of Armstrong saw Quay. He told him that the Armstrong delegation would favor Elkin. Ex-Senator William Meredith says that they will not.

John R. Farr of Scranton, ex-speaker of the house of representatives, saw Quay yesterday. Mr. Farr is confident that Col. Watres will be nominated for governor.

OHIO COURT HOLDS A MAN'S INTELLECT IS NO TRADE SECRET

National Tube Company Loses Suit Against Zanesville Concern.

PITTSBURGHERS INVOLVED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Columbus, O., April 29.—The circuit court of this division today handed down a decision in the suit brought by the National Tube Company of Pittsburgh against the Eastern Tube Company of Zanesville, which is national in its import and one of the most sweeping of its kind ever rendered by a higher court. The court, in substance, held that a man's intellect is not a trade secret, and he cannot be enjoined from using his brains, even if by so doing he should work an irreparable injury to someone else.

After the consolidation of the tube companies of the country the Zanesville company opened an independent plant and secured some of the skilled employes of the Pittsburgh company. The principal of these employes were the Nuttall brothers of Pittsburgh. In the course of their employment they devised and had manufactured tubes and pipes similar in construction to those made by the National Tube plant at McKeesport, the castings, it is claimed, being exact duplicates. The combine enjoined the Zanesville company from making these castings, claiming that the models were trade secrets and their sole property.

The evidence showed that the models for the castings could be made by the men without reference to the originals. The court in passing on the case ruled that the work done was the result of the intelligence of the men, and as they could make models without copying or imitating, an injunction would not lie. In substance the court ruled that men's intelligence cannot be construed as a trade secret and the injunction was dissolved. An appeal has been taken by the defendant corporation to the supreme court of Ohio.

FESSENDEN'S SYSTEM SPEEDY AND CHEAP

His Wireless Apparatus Will Probably Be Given Naval Test—Plant Compact and Light.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—Lieut. Beecher, the naval expert in wireless telegraphy, has returned to Washington from his trip to the North Carolina sounds, where he inspected the weather bureau system of wireless telegraphy installed between Roanoke and a point on the mainland opposite Hatteras, a distance of 50 miles as the crow flies. The system which was invented by Prof. Fessenden, formerly of Pittsburgh, was found to work over that distance with absolute accuracy, reliability and high speed.

The new plant is extremely compact and light, and a very strong point in its favor is the remarkably small amount of battery power required to operate it, as compared with other systems. This makes for low cost of maintenance.

The experimenters are working on a selective device which is reported to promise very well. Although Lieut. Beecher has not yet made his formal report to Admiral Bradford, there is no doubt that he will recommend the installation of an experimental set of the weather bureau instruments on at least one naval vessel.

Pittsburgher Weds in New York.

NEW YORK, April 29.—(Special.)—Only relatives and about 30 intimate friends of the bride attended the wedding of Miss Augusta Hotchkiss Knevals, daughter of Shearman W. Knevals, to Thomas Howe Childs of Pittsburgh, which was solemnized today in the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Epiphany. The family of the bride is in mourning for Mrs. Knevals, who died suddenly in a theater a short time ago.

THE NEW CAMPAIGN AGAINST COMBINES LIKELY TO SPREAD

Trusts to Be Attacked in Courts Likely to Fight Against the Nomination of Roosevelt.

BACKING FROM THE WEST

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
903 Fifteenth St., N. W.
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.

Political gossip in Republican circles at the capitol touches the renomination of President Roosevelt and the campaign against trusts upon which the executive branch of the government is entering.

A recent rumor that investigation of at least one of the trusts is contemplated is of interest. President Roosevelt's name enters into the discussion by reason of the fact that he has personally directed the moves thus far made against trusts, and because of the allegation frequently iterated that he is bringing down upon himself the wrath of the great "captains of industry," who, it is said, purpose to punish him, if possible, by combining against his renomination.

When the president directed Attorney General Knox to take action against the Northern Pacific railroad merger J. Pierpont Morgan and other capitalists reached down to Washington and conferred with their friends in official circles. They feared, it was said at the time, that the president might have other similar acts in contemplation and they desired to head off a repetition of the unwelcome surprise that had been given financial interests.

The presence at the capital this week of J. J. Hill, the western railway capitalist, has revived the talk. Mr. Hill is said to have expressed to his friends in congress, especially to his intimates in the senate, the fear that a spirit of hostility to railroad and financial interests may be engendered in congress and become manifest in legislation reflecting the tone which some capitalists think exists in the executive branch. It is a part of the gossip current at the capitol that Mr. Hill does not regard President Roosevelt's chances of renomination as flattering.

The president's initiation of a campaign against the beef trust may be followed, it is said, by like action in the case of another food supply controlled by a trust, if ground for the action can be shown. The best sugar refiners of the west have been loud in their complaints of opposition on the part of a rival corporation. The talk in this instance, however, is very guarded and may be more or less speculative.

The opinion is almost unanimous among politicians that the president's course is likely to win him friends among the people at large, whose delegates can outweigh the adverse influence of the trusts.

It is said that the talk against the president is based entirely on a misconception of his intentions and policies. He has not entered upon a reckless campaign of aggression against the great trade combinations per se. He is only after those which may be operating in violation of law and against the public welfare.

The president is highly satisfactory to western representatives. The realize that they will have to face the trust issue in the next campaign. The president is helping them in the most practical way. They will be arraigned by the Democrats for the failure of congress to enact anti-trust legislation. They will reply that a Republican executive is enforcing existing legislation, so the western congressmen are encouraging him to go ahead with the good work. They say the best thing that could happen for him would be for the word to get around that the trusts are to attack him.

PENNSYLVANIA'S PRESIDENT IS IN PITTSBURGH

Alexander J. Cassatt and Other High Officials Arrive.

UNION STATION WAS INSPECTED

Important Local Improvements Expected as a Result.

OTHER POINTS TO BE VISITED TODAY

A Trip Over the Monongahela Division Was Taken Yesterday and Local Terminals, Ohio Connecting Bridge and Panhandle Work Will Be Looked At.

President Alexander J. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad and a large party of other prominent officials of that system reached Pittsburgh in a special train yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. According to Mr. Cassatt, the visit is one to Pittsburgh alone, and the party will be here until 11:30 tonight, when the special train will start on its return to Philadelphia.

"This is not a general trip of inspection. It is for the purpose of looking over the improvements in progress here and inspecting the terminals," said President Cassatt when he arrived at the Union station yesterday.

He would not speak of further improvements to come and on all other local subjects in which the Pennsylvania is interested he kept the same silence.

Yesterday was a busy day for the officials. The party left Altoona about 8 o'clock, having spent the night in that city. They traveled in a special train composed of four private cars.

Officials in the Party.

In the party, besides Mr. Cassatt, were John P. Green, first vice president; Charles E. Pugh, second vice president; Samuel M. Prevost, third vice president; J. B. Hutchinson, general manager; William H. Brown, chief engineer; J. T. Richards, engineer of maintenance of way; J. M. Wallis, general superintendent, Pennsylvania railroad division, Altoona; W. W. Atterbury, general superintendent of motive power, Altoona; R. N. Dorborow, superintendent of motive power, Pennsylvania railroad division; E. J. Cleaver, principal assistant engineer. The party was joined by R. L. O'Donnell, superintendent of the Pittsburgh division; R. T. Morrow, assistant superintendent, and James Buckleley, assistant engineer. Mr. Brown returned to the east last evening.

The special train arrived in Pittsburgh at 1:30 p. m., the officials having taken luncheon at Brushton. There they were joined by Robert Pitcairn, resident assistant to President Cassatt. Upon arrival at the Union station an hour and a half was devoted to a thorough inspection of that building, Mr. Cassatt and others of the party going through the station proper and also the offices of the principal officials of both the Pennsylvania railroad and the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh.

Went Up Monongahela.

At 3 o'clock the party left on an inspection trip over the Monongahela division, the train going as far as Thomson station. The four-tracking of that division along the South Side has been one of the most costly and most important improvements of the class in progress about the city and particular attention was given it. Returning to the Union station the party was taken to Shadyside early in the evening, where the officials were entertained at the home of Mr. Pitcairn.

The plans for today include trips over the local terminals of the system under the guidance of General Superintendent of Terminals R. G. Patterson. A trip over the Ohio Connecting road and bridge to inspect the plants on Neville island, the new Duff branch and the four-track work on the Panhandle will be made during the day. In the evening Mr. Cassatt is to be entertained at the home of H. C. Frick.

At this reception Mr. Cassatt will meet a large number of the big manufacturers and heavy freight producers of the Pittsburgh district, the men to whom the long-continued car shortage has been most embarrassing—and if he so desires they will doubtless be able to explain to him the difficulties they have labored under and what measure of relief they desire.

At 11:30 tonight the special train is scheduled to leave Pittsburgh on its return.

Mr. Cassatt was joined in Pittsburgh by James McCrea, first vice president of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh, and several other Pennsylvania lines officials.

Local Improvements Expected.

The present trip gave an excellent opportunity to point out exactly the local needs and it is reasonably certain that important local improvements will result from the visit. Precisely the nature of these neither Mr. Cassatt nor any other of those who were with him would divulge.

Coming over the Pittsburgh division en route to this city much attention was given by the party to the improvement work recently completed or now in construction along the line. From Johnstown to C. D. tower the special train was run over the new freight track on the north side of the river known as Track No. 4. Stops were made at Kittanning Point, Latrobe, Beatty, Georges cut and Stewart. At all these places there have been important changes in the railroad since Mr. Cassatt's last trip over the line in the fall.

The present stay of two days in Pittsburgh is the longest the present president of the Pennsylvania railroad has made for several years.

SAFE CRACKERS TRIED TO KILL TWO POLICEMEN

Shot Down the Officers When Interfered With at Crafton.

DESPERATE MEN FIRED MANY SHOTS

The five cracksmen who have been terrorizing the suburbs for several weeks visited Crafton last night, broke into the grocery store of Daub & Pressler, were discovered by the town policemen and engaged in a battle of revolvers with the officers. Both policemen were wounded and the thieves escaped.

It was about 2 o'clock this morning that Policeman Wm. McPeak discovered the robbers at work in the grocery store. He heard a subdued explosion, ran to the store and found that the safe had been blown open. Three of the thieves were at work inside, while two were on watch. McPeak blew his whistle and Policeman Thomas Westcott ran to his assistance. The burglars at once broke from the building. One of them carried the cash drawer of the safe, which he dropped before he had run far, as the officers opened fire on the band.

One of the thieves rushed from the store with a heavy chisel in his hand, with which he felled Officer McPeak by a heavy blow on his head.

Westcott used his revolver with rapid energy, and when the thieves had run a little way from the store they began to fire back at the police. The bandits passed down the pike toward McKees Rocks, Westcott following them and firing. He finally received a bullet in his leg, which brought him to the ground. He continued to shoot as long as he was able to see the fleeing forms of the robbers.

The shooting alarmed many sleepers, and the street was soon full of men. McPeak was lifted almost unconscious and was taken to the office of Dr. Israel Davis, on Emily street, where he was cared for. Officer Westcott was soon found down the road, and was taken to Dr. Davis' office. He had been wounded by a 38-caliber bullet in the right leg, but the wound will not be serious.

The robbed store is on Crafton avenue, near the Panhandle station. An examination of the safe showed that a heavy charge of powder had been used, as the safe was torn to pieces. It is believed that the thieves succeeded in carrying away a considerable sum of money, as the $26 found in the cash box where it was dropped was not nearly all that was in the safe.

Shortly after the alarm became general telephone messages were sent from Crafton to Pittsburgh, Carnegie, McKees Rocks and other near places and officers of the law in a wide territory are watching for the robbers.

Officer McPeak's injury on the head is very severe. His scalp was badly cut, but the skull is not thought to be injured.

The police of Crafton and of this city believe that the thieves form the same band which shot a railroad engineer at Millvale about a week ago and a few nights since robbed the hotel of Gus Stitzer at Evergreen. In each of these cases five men were seen.

Man Raised a Disturbance and Soon a General Fight Was in Progress.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CANTON, O., April 29.—In the midst of devotions for the last day of the feast of the Passover in the synagogue, Anse Sholem, in Douglass street, a row broke out, involving the whole congregation and resulting in injury of many of the participants. The disturbance was occasioned by the act of Jacob Miller, a former member in the congregation, who, it is claimed, made a willful attempt to break up the service.

During the melee neighbors began to beat the man nearest to him; the crowd was in an uncontrollable frenzy; fans and umbrellas were used. The yelling throng overflowed to the sidewalk, where the contest among themselves continued. Blood began to flow from cuts on heads and faces. People were thrown down and trampled upon.

CONGESTION OF FREIGHT SHOWN BY BIG FIGURES

times not excepted. Severe economy and the abandonment of all betterments is the only way to maintain dividends in periods of depression.

"However, allowing for the vagaries of stockholders who insist upon a regular dividend at the expense of curtailing future earning power, we are blamable for not awakening sooner to a realization of the flood that was about to engulf us. When the wheels were started there was a deal of red tape entangled among them. The one bright spot is that conditions are growing better, though it will take a strong pull, a long pull and a pull all together, as the 'varsity boatman says, to put everything right."

In this wise ran the opinions of many men who have been struggling with the problem, mostly from the shippers' point of view. The railroad men generally do not look at the matter in exactly the same way and their views will be fully presented when expressed. The thing to do is to get at the root of the trouble, if possible, and to have it remedied in the interest of a greater and better Pittsburgh.

THE LITTLE GIANT IS SPENDING $4,000,000

Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Responding to Call of Pittsburgh's Prosperity—Has Clean Car Sheet.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad is spending about $4,000,000 this year for improvements to meet its share of the demands of Pittsburgh's growing prosperity. A large share of this amount will be spent near this city. The management of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie has unbounded confidence in the future of this district and believes that any expenditure made to meet its needs will not be wasted. Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, vice president and general manager, is an optimist in everything pertaining to Pittsburgh industries.

An additional 10 acres of high priced land has been purchased recently to expand the McKees Rocks yard. Tracks will be laid as rapidly as possible. Two freight tracks are being laid from the lower end of that yard to Groveton, a distance of six miles, to facilitate the movement along the line. From Groveton to Beaver Falls, 21 miles, trains will move on the two-track road and then at the latter place there will be another four-track system to enable freight trains to continue moving without interfering with the passenger service. Twenty-two miles beyond Beaver Falls a yard is being prepared at Hazelton to facilitate continuous movement of trains.

Thousands of Cars Purchased.

The plan is to run freight trains out on the four-track system as soon as made up in the yards. Then when the fast passenger trains pass the freights will cut out on the double track in regular procession, running to the succeeding four-track piece before the next passenger trains are due and moving along that section while the fast trains go by.

The Lake Erie has bought 1,000 steel hopper cars and 1,000 box cars that are to be delivered before midsummer. It has 1,000 steel hoppers contracted for next winter's delivery. Six heavy freight engines and nine large yard engines, ordered last fall for February delivery, are expected during May and June. The six freights and six of the yard locomotives are promised for May by the Pittsburgh locomotive works. Other motive power has been bought for later delivery. This is an ambitious program for a road having a total length of 181 miles.

Col. Schoonmaker, in the course of a discussion of the freight congestion, the causes leading up to it and the remedies for it, said: "The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie now has a clean card. Here is the sheet for the first of this week, and it says there is not a loaded car anywhere about Pittsburgh that has not been moved." The colonel put the sheet in evidence. Then he continued:

"Up to the time of the strike of the Amalgamated association last spring, the Lake Erie and, I believe, the other railroads in the Pittsburgh district, were handling all of the freight offered to them. The demand was heavy, but it was being met quite satisfactorily. There were enough cars. During the strike little finished product was turned out, at least by the mills which ship heavily over our road. The foreign cars we had drawn in from the Lake Shore, Erie and other roads were sent home because they were needed elsewhere. They were scattered far and wide. Then came the end of the strike. Manufacturers, behind with their orders, made special efforts; men who needed wages to meet their bills at the corner grocery went back to work with a will. Mills ran, not double, but triple turns and the offerings of freight leaped suddenly to 25 per cent more than before the strike. The cars that had been scattered could not be brought back at once. Motive power was overworked until it broke down and conditions became worse.

"Early in the year I had foreseen that the single track bridge over the Monongahela river would not be sufficient. I contracted to have it double-tracked, paying an extra price and attaching penalties for its completion in September, in time to meet the rush traffic near the close of the lake season. That bridge was not finished until February. Instead of having the full use of even one track we had to creep over trestling with our trains which probably restricted our movement 25 per cent at that point.

Heavy Increase in Payrolls.

"Since the bridge has been finished we have been clearing up. We are now in good shape. We will have more cars and more motive power before the heaviest business is due. We ordered six big freight locomotives and nine heavy yard engines for delivery in February, but the American Locomotive Company informs us that the best it can do is to give us the six freight and six yard engines in May and the other three yard engines in June. We will have 1,000 steel cars from the Pressed Steel Car Company and 1,000 box cars from the American Car and Foundry Company in June. We have a clear sheet now and expect to be able to keep up this year. Here is our payroll for last month and for the same month last year. You will note the increase, in round numbers, is $100,000.

"When we were investing money last year, drawing on our credit and good name, I was cautioned on all sides to go slow, that there must soon be a reaction. I have more confidence in Pittsburgh than that. We will be busy here when the rest of the country is idle. This year I prevailed upon our stockholders to increase the capital of the road $4,000,000 to provide funds to meet extraordinary expenses and provide ample equipment. Our road will be in much better position to care for future business, and while I can speak for it only, I believe the other roads will also be much better prepared."

A PITTSBURGH MAN IN TROUBLE IN OHIO

Is Charged With Impersonating a Contractor in Employing Men for Government Work.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SPRINGFIELD, O., April 29.—Otto Horn of Pittsburgh is in jail here on a serious charge. Uncle Sam may be the prosecutor instead of the state. Horn came here three or four days ago and put up at a hotel. He at once advertised for men to do government work on the Ohio river near Parkersburg, W. Va. "Jack" Volkerth was engaged as foreman. Volkerth, on Horn's instructions, hired men until he had 42 ready to take the first train out of town for their jobs. Some shipped their trunks and tools to Parkersburg.

The men became suspicious, it is alleged, when Horn asked for $1 each from the men to recompense him for his work in getting them jobs. Their suspicions were heightened when Horn surreptitiously took a train and prepared to leave the city.

A guard that had been watching him took him off the train. Police were called and he was locked up. Today United States Commissioner Cochran was asked to take the case up. The men believe that it will be possible to prosecute Horn for impersonating a government contractor. United States District Attorney Sundy at Cincinnati was appealed to for his opinion. An answer from him is expected tomorrow.

PROSPECT FOR BRIDGE GOT ELKIN A DELEGATE

Wyoming County Convention Had an Ax to Grind in Giving Instructions.

TUNKHANNOCK, PA., April 29.—There was a $50,000 bridge at stake in the election of the Republican state delegate in Wyoming county and the convention that met here took a practical view of the situation by instructing for Attorney General Elkin.

A short time ago the floods destroyed the bridge over Tunkhannock creek and application has been filed at Harrisburg, under a recent act of assembly, for the state to rebuild the bridge or furnish the $50,000 necessary therefor. Attorney General Elkin is on the board which passes upon the application, and May 18 is the last day upon which exceptions may be filed in the matter, unless they are filed by the attorney general on or before that date. The county will receive the $50,000 appropriation.

There were 17 delegates in convention yesterday who declined to be moved by this influence, but the majority voted for Elkin instructions.

The feeling manifested among the delegates for Col. Watres was of the very kindest sort, but Col. Watres, who knew of the bridge condition, had requested some of his friends not to ask for instructions for himself, preferring an uninstructed delegate under the circumstances. This is the true inwardness of the way the Wyoming county convention instructed its delegate for Elkin.

EIGHT MORE BODIES.

Wreck of City of Pittsburgh Still Yields Up Its Dead—Millionaire Hunter's Remains Missing.

CAIRO, ILL., April 29.—The body of another of the Burk boys was taken out of the river just above Cairo today, and the body of a colored roustabout just below the city. The body of William R. Bolinger of Cincinnati, steward of the City of Pittsburgh, was recovered near the wreck. The remains of three other unfortunates were found in the rear end of the wreck. They were so badly burned that identification was impossible.

Two more bodies were recovered this afternoon. One was supposed to be that of Harlow Dowe of Memphis. The other was that of one of the Burk children, a girl.

Among the prominent people yet missing are Millionaire L. L. Hunter of Tidioute, Pa., and L. L. Hill.

Watres' Candidacy Indorsed.

SCRANTON, PA., April 29.—The return judges who conducted the Republican primary election in the First legislative district Saturday met today and declared Joseph Oliver the candidate for the legislature in that district. Phillip H. Williams and Thomas Mills were named as delegates to the state convention. The candidacy of Col. L. A. Watres for governor was indorsed.

Nee and Dunn Fight a Draw.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., April 29.—(Special.)—A large crowd witnessed the 10-round boxing bout this evening before the Nonpareil Athletic club between Paddy Nee of Allegheny and Jimmy Dunn of New Castle, which ended in a draw decision. Both men were well matched and in excellent physical condition. From the first to the last round the work done by both men was hot and heavy.

THE WEATHER.

Fair.

The weather man has had such a checkered career as an infallible prophet that he has decided to get into the puddle of the road, and his prediction for today is a declaration of first principles along this line. In order that no one shall feel discomfited, he has decided to give everyone the best of it and start a game at which every one wins. He starts in by declaring that there is to be a general clearing up of the wet and cloudy conditions which have prevailed in Pittsburgh for the last few days. But before any fair-minded man has had an opportunity to digest this welcome news, he is somewhat startled by noting that the city and its vicinity will probably be visited by light showers during the morning, and he winds up with the comforting assurance that a dry and clearing state of affairs in atmospheric conditions will prevail during the afternoon. Whether or not the weather man has received an invitation to a particularly alluring 5 o'clock tea and is trying to persuade himself that he will not have to hide his light under a bushel in order to keep dry is not made known in the forecast.

STRIKE CALLS BY THE CARPENTERS AND PLUMBERS

At Meetings Last Night 6,000 Men Were Ordered to Quit on May-Day.

DEMAND WAGE ADVANCES

Attitude of a Rival Carpenters' Organization May Cause Complications—Strike Committees Named and Headquarters Established.

Pittsburgh district council of the carpenters and the Pittsburgh plumbers' organization formally issued a strike call last night to nearly 6,000 building tradesmen. They are ordered to lay down their tools on May-day, tomorrow, wherever employers will not agree to advanced wages. The carpenters are demanding $3 50 for an eight-hour day for all outside men and the same wage for nine hours for the planing mill men. They ask for no formal agreement, but want the continuance of the present working rules.

The district council of carpenters, representing 22 local organizations of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, met last night and spent hours in considering the strike step, it being intimated that the rival organization, the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters, which has a light foothold here, is ready to bring men in to take the strikers places. However, the strike call was made without a vote against it, and Business Agent William J. Kelly announced afterward that the employers of over half of the carpenters in the district, extending from Beaver Falls to Clairton, will meet the scale, although after a meeting of the organized employers the night before, it was announced that they would stand for their compromise offer of $3 25.

Strike Committee Named.

The following strike committee was named: C. E. Winslow of Local No. 202, East End; Robert Addie of No. 211, Allegheny; John Hanstine of No. 254, Pittsburgh; Walter Donaldson of No. 165, East End; W. J. Willock of No. 290, South Side; A. J. Carson of No. 255, McKees Rocks, and Aaron Boyer of No. 778, Braddock. Strike headquarters will be at No. 537 Smithfield street. Seven local organizations of the carpenters, scattered between Carnegie and Braddock, will meet tonight. The present minimum scale wage of the carpenters is $2 90 for the eight-hour day, but many of the men are getting $3 25, and some as high as $4.

The plumbers crowded the Duquesne Greys armory in Old City hall last night. They voted unanimously to have the stewards of each job present their new wage scales to the master plumbers individually Thursday morning, and to strike wherever they are not signed. There are 650 members in the organization, known as Twin City local No. 27, United Association of Journeymen Plumbers, Gas Fitters, Steam Fitters and Steam Fitters' Helpers. The present wage is $3 50 for an eight-hour day, and the demand is for $4, and $3 50 for the few men coming out of apprenticeships for a year.

Headquarters of the Plumbers.

Strike headquarters will be established at the Building Trades council room, Diamond street and Cherry alley, where President J. J. Kane and Business Agent J. J. McKee will have charge.

As stated yesterday the strike of the building trades on Thursday promises to be practically general. The agreements of the stone cutters and stone masons does not expire till June 1. The tile setters, who have been on strike in sympathy with the helpers for the past two weeks, met last night. It was reported that five of the contractors had agreed to the helpers' scale.

The Molders' union, No. 27, met at Moorhead hall and voted that the members strike in foundries where nonunion core makers go to work. The marble cutters met in the same hall. They have no grievance, but will strike on jobs where non-union building tradesmen are employed.

Edward Rinehart, who came from Baltimore and was reported to have again left the city after having petitioned the striking linemen to give him money and railroad fare to Baltimore, yesterday called at The Gazette office and stated that he has no intention of leaving Pittsburgh, nor has he asked the striking linemen for money.

ACHESON IS SUING BEAVER COMMITTEE

Institutes Mandamus Proceedings to Have His Name Placed on Official Ballot.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., April 29.—Chairman W. E. Penn of the Washington county Republican committee returned today from Beaver, where he began mandamus proceedings against the Beaver county Republican committee to compel the placing of Congressman E. F. Acheson's name on the official ballot for congress in the Twenty-fourth district, to be voted for at the primaries on May 15.

Counsel has been employed and every effort will be made to place Acheson's name on the ticket. Mr. Acheson will arrive here from Washington, D. C., tomorrow and will go at once to Beaver to personally look after his interests. He paid his fee of $50 to announce in Beaver county and took a pledge to support the nominee of the district.

It is claimed at Beaver that he is ineligible as a non-resident. Washington county Republicans claim that a contrary precedent was established when Gov. Stone was permitted to announce in Beaver county.

SHAFFER IS SURE OF RE-ELECTION

SHOWED STRENGTH BY ADOPTION OF HIS REPORT.

M. F. Tighe No Longer a Candidate for the Presidency of the Amalgamated Association—M. M. Garland Addresses the Convention.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WHEELING, W. VA., April 29.—It is now practically certain that President Theodore Shaffer is the "big man" of the Amalgamated association. Today the convention, with few dissenting voices, indorsed his annual report. It gave the history of the strike and his explanation of every one of his many acts which aroused criticism during that momentous struggle. The action of the convention is a vindication of his entire course.

It is not likely now that there will be much opposition to Mr. Shaffer's re-election. The Associated Press can state authoritatively that Assistant Secretary M. E. Tighe will not be a candidate for the presidency. His name has been mentioned in connection with the office, and while he has never personally said he would run, it has been understood that he would be willing to make the race. Today, however, it is learned that Mr. Tighe informed his friends that he would not permit his name to be mentioned in connection with the office; that he will be re-elected to his present position goes without saying.

Mr. Tighe's refusal to run with President Shaffer does not mean that he will be elected without opposition. The friends of Thomas Williams of Zanesville, a veteran member of the association, insist that he shall be a candidate, and will present his name to the convention.

The convention heard an address by ex-President M. M. Garland. Mr. Garland spoke at length concerning the work of the association and counseled a continuance along the present lines of conservatism and fair play.

Youngstown, New Castle, Wheeling and Columbus are all after the Amalgamated's home, but indications are that no change will be made, and that the offices will be retained at Pittsburgh.

RAILROAD SOON TO BELONG TO FULLERS

ANOTHER STEP TOWARD SALE BY BALTIMORE COUNCIL.

Only Possible Hitch Will Be If Second Branch Tries to Exact a Definite Pledge—Matter Will Be Disposed of Either Today or Tomorrow.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BALTIMORE, MD., April 29.—The Fuller ordinance for the purchase of the city's interest in the Western Maryland railroad went through the first branch of the city council with a rush tonight. The ordinance in this shape was then carried to the second branch, where it was put upon its first reading.

It had been the plan of the political leaders behind the Fuller measure to carry it to a final issue tonight, by suspending the rules in the second branch; but this was foiled by Maj. Venable, who made it a point to leave the chamber immediately after the ordinance had been placed upon its first reading. Another session of the council will be held tomorrow afternoon, when the ordinance will reach amendment stage.

Some grave apprehension had been manifested in this regard, but it is now believed that the most harmful thing that could happen to the ultimate success of the Fullers is a prospective amendment making it obligatory on the part of the Wabash system to contract to make connections with the Western Maryland. This amendment might prevail and it might not. However, it is the general opinion that the Fuller ordinance will get through the second branch, even if it takes another day to insure its third and final reading.

The members of the Fuller syndicate declare that it is their intention to connect the Western Maryland railroad as rapidly as the work can be done with the Wheeling & Lake Erie, and through it with the Wabash system and its connecting lines, thus making Baltimore the terminal of a great transcontinental line controlled by the Wabash.

Boys and Their Summer Clothes.

The little fellows' wash suits—each boy of the family ought to have half a dozen suits to see him through the summer.

Six wash suits won't cost any more than a single suit of woolen goods.

You have no idea, unless you have been here, what nice, neat suits can be bought for a single dollar. And the easiest kind of rises up to $7.50.

Sailor and Russian blouse styles in linen, galateas, crash and chambray.

Prettiest of contrasts—white suits with brown collars, blue striped suits with solid blue collars, light blue suits with dark blue collars, red and white striped suits with solid red collars, etc.—putting it in a short way, all sorts of stripes on all sorts of contrasting grounds.

Flannel Knee-Pant Suits for the outing trip—the smart suit of the outing outfit—plain white, brown with faint tan stripes, blue with gray stripes and other combinations—blouse and two-piece styles—from $5 up to $9.

Single-breasted two-piece Outing Suits—the trousers with detachable belt of self—made of light-weight homespun, wool crash, Scotch tweeds—coat cut just like a man's—from $5 to $12.

Fine Sailor and Russian Blouse Suits of finest materials—slate, royal blue, navy blue and brown—each with a detachable collar of pique or silk—just the neatest and best suit a little boy can wear—the price $10.

Norfolk Suits—might be called the boys' swagger suit—plain blue, brown and gray rough tweeds and fancy mixtures—a suit that looks well and sets well on a knee-pant boy of any age—from $5 to $10.

But for the best all-round every day suit—especially for the big baseball boy—see the Joseph Horne Co. Special at $5. A slide to first never feazes it.

Mattings, $8.50 a Roll.

They are Japanese Mattings—the cotton warp kind—the best.

Ours are not any better than other Japanese Mattings in town—but they are infinitely less in price.

These that we are going to sell today sell everywhere for $12. But we can sell them for $8.50, because we bring them from Japan ourselves.

Pretty scroll and carpet effects full 40 yards in each roll.

CONSUL GENERAL W. M'K. OSBORNE DIES IN LONDON

Cousin of the Late President McKinley Expires from Dropsy.

EVANS NAMED FOR PLACE

Commissioner of Pensions Has Been Informally Offered the Vacant Position by Roosevelt—It is Expected He Will Accept.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, April 29.—United States Consul General William McKinley Osborne died at his residence in Wimbledon at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Osborne's death was not a surprise to his friends. He had been confined to his home since November last, suffering from Bright's disease and dropsy, which latterly affected his heart. He was conscious until near the end. He had never been absolutely well since he arrived in England.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—The deceased consul general was a cousin of the late President McKinley, his mother being a sister of President McKinley's father. He was a resident of Roxbury, Mass., and was appointed to London five years ago. The post is considered to be the plum of the United States foreign service, for the compensation averages about $25,000 a year and the expenses are not particularly large.

Mr. Osborne was secretary of the Republican national committee during McKinley's first campaign for the presidency. His family, a wife and several children, were with him in Europe, the eldest boy at an English college and his younger daughters at school in Paris.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 29.—(Special.)—William McK. Osborne was born in Girard, near here, in 1842. He attended Poland seminary as a classmate of the late William McKinley. He was elected mayor of Youngstown in 1874, after having served in the Twenty-third Ohio volunteers, McKinley's regiment. He moved to Cleveland in 1878. He went to Boston shortly afterward, where he was married to Miss Katty Hastings. He leaves a sister, Mrs. D. B. Stembaugh of this city; two brothers, Frank Osborne of Cleveland and Wallace Osborne of West Newton, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. M. C. Chaffee of Columbus. Mrs. Abner Osborne, his mother, lives with Mrs. Chaffee at Columbus.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—Commissioner of Pensions Evans was a caller at the White House today and while there the president informed him of the death of Mr. Osborne and, in an informal manner, offered the vacant position to Evans.

No formal tender of the place was made and none will be, as the president desires to pay the proper respect to the memory of the dead consul. Mr. Evans said that he would take the offer under advisement, but no doubt he will accept it when it is made in a formal manner.

ARCHBISHOP CORRIGAN SUFFERS A RELAPSE

Condition Not So Favorable as Had Been Hoped by His Physicians.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, April 29.—Archbishop Corrigan's condition took a turn for the worse today, and though Father Curley, the prelate's secretary, declared the restlessness and weakness of the archbishop had been anticipated, extra precautions were taken to insure the patient's recovery.

No bulletin on the archbishop's condition was issued tonight. After the consultation among the three physicians this afternoon the patient did not sleep until 9 o'clock, when he fell into a doze. He was restless all day. He is very weak. It became necessary to administer a stimulant, and this was given to him in the shape of a little champagne.

Father Curley said tonight: "There is nothing in the fact of his restlessness and weakness of today to warrant apprehension. We anticipated a slow recovery because of his extremely weak condition. The pneumonia has almost left him, only a little part of the bottom of the right lung being still affected. The physicians really anticipated this relapse, but they had hoped it would not be so pronounced. He will recover, but his recovery, as the doctors say, will necessarily be slow."

Dr. Delafield and Dr. Keyes will hold a consultation at noon tomorrow, after which a bulletin will be issued.

COUNCIL WAS BUSY.

Common Branch in Allegheny Passed Many Important Ordinances at a Meeting Last Night.

At a special session of Allegheny common council held last evening all the measures passed by the select branch on Monday night were passed. They included over 80 ordinances for the improvement of streets and sewers.

The resolution for the appointment of a committee to select a site for a monument to the late Col. James Anderson, which passed select council on Monday night was adopted. The committee consists of Henry P. Staving, Henry E. Speidel and Samuel McElroy.

Ordinances for the purchase of a steam fire engine, erection of an engine house in Lafayette street, engine house and patrol stable in Preble avenue and the purchase and laying of underground cables for the bureau of electricity were passed.

The ordinance fixing the salaries of the employes of the bureau of police passed finally.

Ordinances fixing the salaries of the city assessors at $2,500 per year each and one clerk of the department at $1,800 per year, and the salary of the market constable at $3 per day were introduced and referred.

ALL KINDS OF MAY WEATHER.

Weather Bureau Records for 31 Years Show a Great Variety.

May, the month of flowers, will give the people of Pittsburgh and vicinity but slight improvement in the weather prevailing during April, if the forecast of the local office of the United States weather bureau counts for anything. A compilation of the reports for May for the past 31 years shows that in that month Pittsburgh has had everything from heavy rainfall to snow and cloudy days. In May, 1887, this section had a temperature of 95 degrees in the shade, and at another time, in 1894, there was a minimum temperature of 27 degrees. The warmest May ever known here was in 1896, when the average temperature recorded was 70 degrees, and the coldest May occured two years later, when the average temperature only reached 57 degrees.

Pittsburgh during the past 31 years has also been visited in May with a wind storm traveling at the rate of 36 miles per hour from the west. The heaviest rainfall during any May was 6.45 inches, in 1889, which is enough to make a big swell in the local rivers.

FEAR A SCARLET FEVER EPIDEMIC

MANY CASES OF THE DISEASE IN THE OAKLAND DISTRICT.

The Teachers in the Fourteenth Ward Schools Say That the Danger Is Practically Past, Although Serious Trouble Was Feared a Week Ago.

The residents of the Fourteenth ward, Oakland, are in a state of alarm over an epidemic of scarlet fever which is threatening that district. In the past two weeks no less than 20 cases of the contagious disease have been reported in the ward and many families are keeping their children from school for fear they will contract the disease.

According to the reports to the board of health for the month of April over 100 cases of scarlet fever have been reported in Pittsburgh. This is said to be a record-breaking month in the year for the disease. Half a dozen new cases were reported to the bureau of health yesterday afternoon and the majority of these were from Oakland.

The residence streets of Oakland most infected with the dreaded disease are Meyran avenue and Atwood street. No less than six cases of scarlet fever are reported from Atwood street and there are known to be at least four in Meyran avenue.

The scarlet fever in the Oakland district is not confined to children, but many grown persons are confined to bed with it. The fatalities from the present attack of the disease have been numerous and the fear of the residents of Oakland is that the disease may spread greatly owing to the present number of persons afflicted.

The start of the disease was made in the Bellefield school about the first of April, when several children were compelled to leave school on account of it. Since that time a number of cases have been reported in the other schools of the ward—the Holmes and Soho schools.

The bureau of health is doing all in its power to prevent the spread of the disease, and as soon as cases are reported placards are posted on the houses and the residents quarantined. Reports are made daily to the principals and assistant principals of the Fourteenth ward schools.

Miss Marguerite A. Hunter, principal of the schools of the Fourteenth ward, when seen at her home in Stanton avenue, East End, last night, said: "We have had several cases of scarlet fever in the Bellefield school and also a number reported among the children of the Holmes and Soho schools. We do not believe, however, there is any danger now of an epidemic, although one was feared a week or so ago.

"There are a number of children away from the different schools of the ward at the present time on account of sickness, but this is nothing unusual for this time of year.

"We always pay the strictest attention to illness among the school children, and when a child is sick in the school room the case is always investigated. We do not believe there is any danger of having to close the schools at this time on account of scarlet fever or any other disease, but, of course, it is beyond our power to foretell what will happen.

CORONER BELIEVES MURDER WAS DONE

Orders Arrest of Two Women and a Man in Connection With Edward Reed's Death.

Coroner Jesse M. McGeary last night notified the chief of police of Apollo, Pa., to arrest and hold the two women and a man who are said to be implicated in the death of Edward Reed, who was found dying at Butler Junction, early last Thursday morning.

The coroner refused to divulge the names of the parties wanted in the case, but stated last night that he thought they would be apprehended today. The parties in question have been closely watched ever since the body of Reed was found. Constable Duff at Freeport claimed he had evidence that Reed was murdered and his body thrown beneath the train to hide the crime.

Yesterday morning Constable Duff notified the coroner that the suspects had left the town and also apprised him of their present location. The coroner yesterday sent Deputies Thomas Zeski and Charles Bender to Apollo to arrest the trio.

No word had been received from the deputies up until a late hour last night, but about 9 o'clock Coroner McGeary received a message from the chief of police at Apollo stating he had located the three people eight miles from town and asking for instructions.

From the information received by the coroner from Constable Duff it appears that three men and two women were drinking in a house at Freeport last Wednesday night. Reed was in the party and it is said became infatuated with one of the women. One of the men in the party resented this and it is alleged he and Reed went out to fight it out with the other members of the party as witnesses.

According to the story of Constable Duff, Reed came to his death by being hit on the top of the head with a stone. After his death, so it is stated, his body was thrown beneath the train.

A partial inquest was held on the case last Friday, but it was postponed and will be continued after the other members who formed the original party are captured.

FIVE MEN HURT BY EXPLOSION ON THE FULTON

Submarine Boat Experiences Mishap While Seeking Shelter.

VESSEL LITTLE DAMAGED

Storage Battery Generated the Gas Which Exploded—Lieut. MacArthur's Breakfast Rudely Interrupted—The Engineer's Courage.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Lewes, Del., April 29.—An explosion which injured half a dozen persons occurred on the submarine boat Fulton today as she was running into the harbor of the Delaware breakwater. The boat was bound from Brooklyn to Norfolk and was partly submerged when the accident occurred. The most seriously injured are Lieut. Oscar Kohen of the Austrian navy, severely bruised; Lieut. Arthur MacArthur, U. S. N., cut about the head; Harry Moore, assistant engineer, injured about the head; C. B. Minor, assistant engineer, nose split; Charles Bechtol, gunner, severely hurt on head and body.

All the injured were sent to the United States Marine hospital and after their wounds were dressed they were discharged with the exception of Bechtol. He will leave the hospital tomorrow morning.

The explosion was caused by an accumulation of gas which had been generated by the storage battery. Although the explosion was a violent one, the vessel was only slightly injured. It will take several days to put the battery in serviceable condition.

MacArthur's Breakfast Spoiled.

On account of the rough weather at sea it was decided by the commander of the Fulton to put into the Delaware breakwater and it was while the boat, partly under yater, was rounding the great stone breakwater that the explosion occurred. Nine men were in the hold and three men on deck at the time. Assistant Engineer Miner, who was lying beside the boiler asleep, was thrown several feet away. Lieut. MacArthur, a son of Maj. Gen. MacArthur, and Gunner Bechtel were at breakfast. The former was hurled against the roof of the cabin, injuring his head. Bechtol was struck by heavy debris and was so badly hurt that he was unable to care for himself and others helped him to the deck, making their escape as the hold was rapidly filling with gasoline fumes.

Capt. Frank Cable, Lieut. H. H. Merrell and Boatswain Charles Berg were on deck when the explosion occurred and signaled the tug Storm King and yacht Mindora, which convoyed the Fulton here, for assistance. The steam launch Palaca being near, also went alongside and took the injured men ashore to the Marine hospital.

Considerable bravery was shown by Engineer Saunders. After the explosion the engines continued to work. Saunders wrapped his head and face in a wet towel and went below and stopped them.

Made a Good Record.

After the explosion the Fulton was towed to the government pier near the hospital. The Fulton left Sandy Hook at 8:30 Monday morning. Shortly afterward she submerged and made 15 miles under water going at the rate of five miles an hour off Long Branch. She came to the surface and made six miles an hour during the trip, until the accident at the breakwater occurred. She proved to be a good sea boat and did not once require the assistance of her convoy. The engines ran continuously for 20 hours. Those on board were highly pleased with her performance.

Capt. Frank S. Cable, who was in command of the Fulton, said tonight:

"The accident was an occurrence which could never be foreseen, but which can be guarded against in the future, and which in no way affects the eventual success of submarine navigation, even while it has put a quietus on this particular trip."

DENTISTS AT DINNER.

Commencement Banquet of Pittsburgh Dental College Held in the Home Cafe Last Night.

The fifth annual banquet of the Pittsburgh Dental college department of Western university was held last night in the cafe of the Horne building in Penn avenue. The cafe was handsomely decorated with the class colors of blue and gold, and palms, ferns and roses were used in profusion. Hidden behind a mass of bloom the college orchestra furnished the music during the banquet. It was one of the largest gatherings ever held by the college, over 400 guests being present.

After the menu had been disposed of Prof. Stewart L. McCurdy, the toastmaster, addressed the gathering and the first toast, "The Seniors," was responded to by Fred. C. Robinson, the next toast was "The Old and the New," and was responded to by Prof. H. W. Arthur. Howard Smith responded to "The Juniors," and H. T. Hartley "The Freshmen." The last toast called forth Prof. John A. Brashear, and he told the boys of "Our Future." It was midnight before the banquet closed.

The annual commencement will be held in Carnegie Music hall this evening.

DICKSON'S NEW HOME.

Pittsburgh's Leading Tailoring Establishment.

The tailoring establishment of Mr. James Dickson is now fittingly quartered in the handsome and spacious building at No. 420 Wood street, just opposite the Germania bank. The Dickson tailoring house is one of the oldest in the city. For over a quarter of a century it occupied the top floors of the building recently razed at the corner of Fifth and Wood. Its name and reputation is well known to everyone hereabouts. It is also a conceded fact that within his time Mr. Dickson has outfitted and "dressed up" more men than any other tailor in the city. Wherever and whenever a suit of the Dickson cut and make is seen there also is the very perfection of style and finish that modern and correct tailoring art can create. In the present quarters Mr. Dickson is enabled to give even greater satisfaction to his patrons than before. His aim will be to produce only the best of garments that can be made.

MACARTHUR NOT BLAMABLE FOR SMITH'S ORDER

But He Takes Entire Responsibility for Methods Used in Aguinaldo's Capture.

BURDEN NOT ON FUNSTON

Senate Committee Will Decide Today Whether to Call Aguinaldo and Other Ex-Leaders of Rebellion and Send Probers to Philippines.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., April 29.—Gen. MacArthur disclaims any responsibility for the orders of Gen. Jacob H. Smith to make Samar a howling wilderness. This he said in his examination today by the senate committee on Philippines.

Replying to a question by Senator Beveridge, Gen. MacArthur said that absolute chaos would result should the Filipinos be given complete independence and the United States entirely withdraw from the islands; but he said he would like to explain this statement at another session of the committee.

He explained that statement in his annual report of June 30, 1900, that "the United States had acquired sovereignty by treaty, and in a way owned the Philippine Islands, but did not own the Philippine people," by saying that these conclusions were reached after conversation with an infinite number of people and observation, and that they represented the bulk of the views of the Nationalist party.

He then identified what purported to be a copy of the order of Gen. Luna for the massacre of the foreign residents of Manila. Senator Patterson sought to show that it was not difficult to deceive Aguinaldo by forgery, and referred to his capture by Gen. Funston through a forged letter signed "Lacuna."

Gen. MacArthur, with considerable emphasis, declared that Gen. Funston was not responsible in any way for any of the methods which obtained in the capture of Aguinaldo.

"I am responsible in that matter in every way and particular," said Gen. MacArthur. "It was one of the deceptions frequently practiced in war, and whatever responsibilities attaches thereto I take."

Gen. MacArthur was excused until tomorrow, the committee going into secret session to further consider the advisability of summoning witnesses asked for by the minority. These witnesses include Aguinaldo and various other former leaders of the rebellion. After some discussion it was decided to postpone the taking of a vote on the proposition until tomorrow morning, at which time the committee will also pass upon the question of the advisability of sending a subcommittee to the Philippines to continue the investigation.

Chinese Exclusion Bill Signed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—President Roosevelt has signed the Chinese exclusion bill. The pen used was given to Representative Kahn of California, who has taken a deep interest in the bill.

SMITH'S EARS MUST BURN.

Republicans and Democrats Unite in Characterizing His Bloodthirsty Order as Revolting.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—A spirited discussion of the Philippine situation occurred in the senate today. It revolved around the order alleged to have been issued by Gen. Jacob A. Smith, to make the island of Samar a howling wilderness and to kill all male inhabitants over the age of 10 years.

When the Philippine bill was laid before the senate no one was prepared to deliver a set speech on it. Mr. Lodge, in charge of the measure, said he felt compelled to press it for consideration. His remarks drew the fire of Mr. Teller, who criticised the Republicans for not participating in the discussion. This precipitated the debate.

Mr. Teller declared that Gen. Smith, if he had issued such an order as had been attributed to him, ought to be dismissed from the service, as it was a disgrace to the American army and to the American people. Mr. Lodge said that while he knew little of the circumstances surrounding the alleged order, he did not approve of cruel methods in warfare, and every right-minded person must regret Gen. Smith's order. To him it was revolting. He defended the administration, however, saying that as soon as knowledge of the order had come to Washington the president had directed that Gen. Smith be court-martialed.

PROTECTING THE FLAG.

Penrose Introduces an Amendment for Spanish War Veterans.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—(Special.)—Senator Penrose introduced an amendment in the senate today to his bill to prevent the desecration of the American flag. The change will please the boys of '98.

The bill as originally introduced provided that a national or state regiment or Grand Army post should have the right to put upon the flag the name and number of such regiment or post. The amendment confers the same right upon the Spanish War Veterans' organizations. There are thousands of these veterans in Pennsylvania. The senator said today he believes the bill will become a law at this session of congress.

Airbrake Men Open Their Convention

ABOUT 200 EXPERTS NOW IN SESSION

An Attractive Program Will Entertain Visitors from All Sections of the Country.

About 200 delegates, with almost an equal number of ladies accompanying them, have been attracted to Pittsburgh by the ninth annual convention of the Airbrake association. The first meeting of the convention was held yesterday morning at convention headquarters in the Monongahela house. The last will be held Thursday afternoon.

The features of the convention will be those usual to such meetings, with the special attraction in this case of an inspection of the great Westinghouse airbrake works at Wilmerding. The whole party will visit the plant this afternoon.

Yesterday morning at the business session several papers were read. These were one on "Best Methods of Handling Airbrake Work in Connection With Yard Testing Plants;" one on "Roundhouse Airbrake Work, Inspection and Repairs," and one on "Frozen Train Pipes: Cause and Prevention." Each was submitted by a committee appointed at the last convention.

In the afternoon the party attended a special organ recital by Organist Lemare in the convention's honor at Carnegie Music hall. A morning carriage ride for the ladies was postponed on account of the inclement weather. A smoker was held at the hotel in the evening.

This morning another business session will be held by the delegates, while the ladies of the party visit the Heinz pickle factory. The Westinghouse trip will take up the afternoon. The evening will be spent at the Alvin theater.

Tomorrow, which will be the final day, will be devoted to the election of officers and the selection of the convention city for the coming year, with a trip on a special train over the Pennsylvania to the Homestead works of the Carnegie Steel Company in the afternoon. The ladies will have a special carriage ride in the forenoon.

The 200 delegates represent about 150 of the leading railroads of the country. The association is composed mainly of airbrake inspectors. Its officers are Otto Best, Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, Nashville, president; F. M. Nellis, Westinghouse Airbrake Company, New York, secretary; James Goodman, Northern Pacific, vice president, and E. G. Desoe, Boston & Albany, Springfield, Mass., treasurer.

The arrangements for the convention have been in charge of a committee composed of John A. Alexander, P. R. R., Altoona (chairman), W. H. Holbrook, P. R. R., Pittsburgh, and S. D. Hutchins, Westinghouse Airbrake Company, Columbus, O.

Fishing Club Rates in Dispute.

The status of the fishing club rates question remains for the present the same. Nothing was done at the regular monthly meeting of the Pittsburgh passenger committee yesterday at the Duquesne hotel to change matters radically. The lines in interest on the ratis to Canadian points will take the matter up among themselves and the committee will act at its next regular meeting or at a special meeting to be called sooner, if necessary. The threat of one of the lines to open the low rates to everyone, if the agreements are not kept, still remains in force. The rates for fishing clubs routed via Cleveland will also be taken up later.

The schedule of excursion fares from this territory as given in The Gazette some weeks ago, adopted at an earlier meeting, was approved in its printed form. The tourist rates to Niagara Falls and Toronto will go into effect May 1 and the special Tuesday excursion rates of $7 45 and $8 45 to Niagara Falls and Toronto on the first Tuesday in July. Each of the Pittsburgh-Buffalo lines will have three five-day excursions on agreed dates to Niagara Falls during the season at the $5 rate.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—(Special.)—Representative Acheson called at the postoffice department this morning relative to an order of the department forbidding rural delivery letter carriers distributing daily newspapers along their routes unless postage on them was paid the second time. Mr. Acheson was informed that the order had been issued under a misapprehension, and that it already had been revoked.

Mr. Acheson also secured an additional clerk for the Homestead postoffice at $400 a year and secured an increase of $100 a year for the other two clerks in the office.

Representative Jack has recommended the establishment of a new postoffice in Banks township, Indiana county, with Daniel Tiblin as postmaster.

"PE-RU-NA IS OF ESPECIAL BENEFIT TO WOMEN,"

SAYS DR. M. C. GEE, OF SAN FRANCISCO.

Mrs. E. T. Gaddis, Marion, N. C., is one of Dr. Hartman's grateful patients. She consulted him by letter, followed his directions, and is now able to say the following:

"Before I commenced to take Peruna I could not do any hard work without suffering great pain. I took Peruna, and can say with pleasure that it has done more for me than any other medicine I have ever taken. Now I am as well as ever; I do all my own work and it never hurts me at all. I think Peruna is a great medicine for womankind." MRS. E. T. GADDIS.

Dr. M. C. Gee's Experience.

Dr. M. C. Gee is one of the physicians who endorse Peruna. In a letter written from 515 Jones street, San Francisco, Cal., he says:

"There is a general objection on the part of the practical physician to advocate patent medicines. But when any one medicine cures hundreds of people, it demonstrates its own value and does not need the endorsement of the profession.

"Peruna has performed so many wonderful cures in San Francisco that I am convinced that it is a valuable remedy. I have frequently advised its use for women, as I find it insures regular and painless menstruation, cures leucorrhœa and ovarian troubles, and builds up the entire system. I also consider it one of the finest catarrh remedies I know of. I heartily endorse your medicine."

M. C. GEE, M. D.

Miss Rose De la Sen, 16 Windsor avenue, Windsor, Ontario, Secretary of the French Women's Clubs of Ontario, Canada, writes:

"I have been a sufferer from ovarian troubles for over four years, which caused me excruciating pains at times and life looked very dreary to me. My family physician and other doctors prescribed for me, but failed dismally in relieving me, but I am pleased to state that after years of suffering I have been entirely cured by your woman's friend, Peruna."

Mary F. Bartholomew, St. Francisville, Ill., says: "About twelve years ago I was afflicted with female trouble (pelvic catarrh). I doctored with several skillful physicians, but kept getting worse until I became bedfast. I was in this condition about two years, under the attendance of four physicians. I got no better during this time. Finally, looking over Dr. Hartman's female book I concluded I would write for advice. I am not sorry I did so. I owe my life to Dr. Hartman and Peruna. My friends and neighbors never expected to see me well again."—Mary F. Barthol mew.

Diseases Peculiar to Women.

This title includes a number of the most distressing affections to which humanity is liable. The symptoms set up by the various phases of female weakness are very numerous, and in no two cases exactly alike.

The most prominent and universal symptoms are bearing down pains, dragging sensations in abdomen, backache, leucorrhœa, nervousness, periodical headaches, sleeplessness, dizziness, loss of appetite and painful or suppressed or profuse menstruation.

For all of these symptoms, as well as for the condition that causes them, Peruna is a reliable specific, and at once relieves every case. It will not fail in a short time to permanently benefit these derangements. It will, finally, entirely cure a great majority of them after all else has failed.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

REVISED CREED IS STILL HARSH UPON THE POPE

Refrains from Calling Him Anti-Christ, but Condemns His Alleged Arrogance.

PARAGRAPH ON ELECTION

It Remains as It Was, but an Explanatory Statement Is Attached. Evidence That Conservatives Controlled Presbyterian Committee.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Philadelphia, Pa., April 29.—The Press will tomorrow claim authentic information of the actual work accomplished by the creed revision committee of the Presbyterian church. From this it appears that the reports which were widely published as to certain changes made in the Confession of Faith and incorporated in a declaratory statement, were in many respects erroneous.

The Press says it has the highest authority for saying that the committee did not, as reported, strike out all reference to the pope of Rome, but that it simply modified the statements to his being "the man of sin the anti-Christ." Nevertheless, according to a member of the committee, strong language is used as to the "arrogance" of the pope in claiming that he is the "vicar of Christ on earth and the only head of the true church."

The statement that the number of elect is so irrevocably fixed that it can neither be increased nor diminished is not taken out of the Confession, but some explanatory words are used in the "declaratory act" which is intended to interpret the Confession. The statement as to elect infants still stands, but it is declared in the "declaratory act" that this means that all infants are included in the covenant of grace.

From this it appears that the conservatives control the creed revision committee.

Considerable of a stir has started in the west and is moving eastward, because members of the committee have shown their brief statement for popular use, free from the technical language, to several commissioners outside the committee and have refused to show it to all. The Rev. Dr. Henry C. Minton, chairman of the committee, and the Rev. Dr. William Henry Roberts, secretary, both of this city, refuse to show the report to anybody in advance of the meeting of the assembly. The Rev. Dr. Richard S. Holmes of Pittsburgh says:

"I have read the brief statement twice and regard it as a most excellent piece of work, and shall vote to submit it to the presbyteries for discussion and adoption."

The leading ecclesiastical lawyers of Philadelphia, including the Rev. Dr. Benjamin L. Agnew, say it is not necessary to submit the brief statement to the presbyteries, as it is only a deliverance and can be adopted by the assembly, as the inerrancy deliverance at Winona, and as the Auburn declaration, and can be used at once. They hold that if it were adopted by the presbyteries it would become the law of the church, which is not desired.

MACHINE GOES BACK ON ITS OWN ACTION

Two Joint Committees Were Organized by Ring Members of Council Last Night.

In direct contravention of the theory on which President Lambie appointed the standing committees of select council the machine members of select council last night proceeded to stultify their president and their leader, John A. Murphy. Mr. Lamble refused on Monday night to recognize the chairmen of two joint committees on the ground that, according to the charter ordinance of 1901, those committees ought to report to common council instead of to select. According to Charles S. Crawford, president of common council, a leader of the Citizens party, the machine last night "put its foot into it" four times by organizing the joint committee on charities and the joint committee on parks and helping to organize and taking part in the work of the committee on public safety.

"I cannot see how Mr. Lambie and Mr. Murphy can reconcile the acts of their men tonight by the action taken by the select branch on Monday night," said Mr. Crawford. "Mr. Murphy and Mr. Lambie say that the legislative act of 1868, which provided that the business of councils shall be done through joint committees, was repealed by the legislative charter act of 1901 and that now and in future the business of councils must be done through standing committees of each branch.

Action Inconsistent.

"Grant for the moment that the act of 1868 is repealed, then what must we think of the logic of the members of select council who organized two committees tonight and then participated in the organization of a third. If these joint committees are illegal then why organize them, why transact any business with them?"

The joint committee on charities was called to order by the city clerk, E. J. Martin. Thomas E. Perry, a machine member, was nominated for chairman and was elected, there being no opposition. John Brand then rose to a question of privilege. He said that President Crawford of common council, in the joint session of both branches of council, had announced him as a member of the committee. Later President Crawford had scratched out his name and substituted that of Max G. Leslie. Therefore Mr. Brand wanted to know whether he or Leslie was the member. Chairman Perry decided in favor of Mr. Brand, because he had been named in the joint session.

"There's where they put their foot into it again," said Mr. Crawford after the meeting. "On Monday night select council decided that joint committees were illegal, yet here is one of its members, Mr. Perry, deciding a question of membership on an 'illegal' committee."

Municipal Hospital Recommended.

Beside a number of resolutions for payment of bills the committee on charities recommended favorably an ordinance to build an ice plant at Marshalsea for $3,500.

The committee on parks organized by electing Joseph G. Armstrong, a machine member, as chairman, J. J. Booth declining a nomination.

George S. Fleming, who is out of town, was elected chairman of the joint committee on public safety, receiving 14 votes to three for John Bena. Harry A. Lamb was elected temporary chairman during Mr. Fleming's absence. An ordinance appropriating $60,000 for the erection of a municipal hospital was amended to read $30,000 and was affirmatively recommended to councils. A resolution appropriating $30,000 for the erection of a power plant and repair shop for the public safety department was postponed to the next meeting.

Two hundred clerks have signified their intention to join the union.

Used Potatoes as Missiles—Two Allegheny boys, James Fitzpatrick, aged 16 years, of No. 1406 Sherman avenue, and Thomas Hughes, aged 17, of Sturgeon street, for taking potatoes retailing at $2 a bushel from stalls on South Diamond street and smashing windows with them were arrested yesterday afternoon at the Allegheny market house and locked up for a hearing today, charged with disorderly conduct.

Principal J. H. Chatham was also re-elected for another term.

Hard on Employes—There has been a great deal of talk caused by the discovery that the borough of East Pittsburgh has no ordinances authorizing payment of borough employes and fixing their salaries. As soon as possible the necessary ordinances will be passed. Employes have been getting their salaries, and will continue to get them, as a resident of the borough is advancing the money, feeling confident that he will be reimbursed.

Boys on a Strike—The 110 boys employed in the Braddock plant of the Standard Chain Company demanded a raise of from 65 to 70 cents a day yesterday, and because they were not given it promptly quit work and caused a shut down in a number of the departments, as the chain makers were unable to work without the assistance of the boys. It is expected that the trouble will be adjusted today, and that the plant will resume operations in full.

Slashed While Asleep—Natalia Vestala was badly cut yesterday while he was asleep in his room at the Italian boarding house, No. 33 Federal street. Four men were arrested, but they were all released except Joe Frank, who was held to await the result of Vestala's injuries. There is a good deal of mystery about the affair. There were eight men asleep in the room and none of them would tell who cut Vestali, whose face was slashed from his ear to his mouth.

New Line to Open June 1—The contractors in charge of the construction of the Wilmerding & Pitcairn street railway lines announced yesterday that the road would be open for traffic to Pitcairn on June 1, if not sooner. All three were locked up in the Center avenue station, James being held as a witness.

Sought Missing Relative—A letter was received yesterday afternoon by Superintendent of Police John McAleese from Mrs. Alice Weston, colored, of Baltimore, inquiring for her husband, David Weston, whom Superintendent McAleese found after investigation in the municipal hospital suffering from smallpox. Superintendent McAleese also received two other letters asking for Alfonses Leogard McCue and Samuel Terry. The police failed to locate either of the latter two men.

Inquest Postponed—The inquest into the death of Ida Englehart, who was killed April 19 by the bursting of the 42-inch water main of the Pennsylvania Water Company in Bertha street, Sterrett township, was called yesterday, but continued until May 20. It will then probably have to be continued again, as William Englehart, the father, has a broken leg, and Lillial, another daughter, is so badly injured that the physicians do not think that she will ever have good health.

Insane Man Located—John Gulock, a demented Slav, who escaped from the insane department of the county home in Woodville four months ago, turned up at his former home in Rankin yesterday. He was at once arrested and locked up. Gulock is said to be insane over religion, and once attempted to crucify his wife. He escaped from the home once before, but was captured shortly afterward. He refuses to say or cannot tell where he has spent the four months that he has been away from Woodville. The authorities at Woodville have been notified of his capture and will have him returned to the home today.

To Preach on Sunday Laws—All of the United Presbyterian pastors in the Monongahela presbytery will preach next Sunday on the enforcement of the Sunday laws. The decision was arrived at yesterday afternoon at the meeting of Monongahela presbytery, and was the result of a resolution offered by the Rev. A. C. McCrory. A resolution on a change in the constitution making the synod the court of last appeal in cases of discipline instead of the general assembly was voted upon. The vote was 17 for the resolution and 14 against. It was then decided that as there were many members of the presbytery not present to leave the vote open for 10 days.

YOUNG WOMAN KILLED BY A STRONG SOLUTION

Serious Mistake of Miss Elsie Hudson of Thirty-Eighth Street With Carbolic Acid.

In using carbolic acid internally Miss Elsie Hudson of No. 263 Thirty-eighth street mixed the solution too strong and died in a quarter of an hour.

Miss Hudson was an accountant down town. She left home yesterday morning feeling in the best of health, but when she returned shortly before 7 o'clock last night she complained of severe pains.

Acting on the advice of her mother Miss Hudson prepared to take a solution of warm water and carbolic acid. She put two large tablespoonfuls of chemically pure carbolic in a very small quantity of water. This mixture proved entirely too strong and after its use the young woman screamed to her mother for assistance.

A physician did all in his power to relieve the young woman's sufferings, but she died at 8:15 o'clock in terrible agony.

Miss Hudson was 19 years old. She was well known in the Lawrenceville district and lived alone with her mother, of whom it was said she was the only support. Mrs. Hudson is prostrated.

Hamilton's Sale of Used Pianos Increase in Interest Every Day

No one familiar with the prices of pianos need be surprised at the throngs of people attending the sale of used pianos now going on at Hamilton's.

Probably most of these people never expected to see prices so remarkably low for high-grade instruments. The fact is, very few would believe it possible to secure such pianos at anything like the prices now prevailing at this progressive music house.

It need hardly be said that the first question usually asked is, "What are the names of the pianos?"

And the question is very much to the point, for in no other line of business does a name signify so much.

Therefore, it is with no little pride that Hamilton refers to the makes of pianos entering into this sale. They include the following: A. B. Chase, Fischer, Hamilton, McPhail, Cable, Mendelssohn, Haines, New England, Capen, Winthrop, Howard, Hallet & Cumston, Opera and others.

PRICES RANGE FROM $100 UP.

In considering the advisability of buying a piano at this sale, just remember that the majority of these instruments have been used so little that they are practically as good as new. Wherever it was necessary to give them attention they have been gone over carefully, and for all practical purposes are as good as the day they left the factory.

Persons in need of pianos for the use of children to practice on, or who do not care to pay the full price for a brand new piano, now have an opportunity that is as attractive as it is rare. Anyone can see that such a sale as this can occur only at long intervals. When these instruments are sold there will be no more at such prices for some time to come.

Write for particulars if you can't come, but by all means attend this sale if you can do so.

SALE OF USED ORGANS FROM $15 UPWARD.

The list of names is a notable one, as in the case of the used pianos, and includes the following: Hamilton, Monarch, Burdett, Estey, Chicago Cottage, Clough & Warren and others.

Also some second-hand piano players at specially reduced prices to effect a quick clearance.

Monthly payments if you prefer.

STEINWAY PIANOS

What Josef Hofmann Says of the Steinway

NEW YORK, April 14.—(Special.)—Josef Hofmann, the great pianist, was asked today by a press representative his opinion as to which is the best piano, to which question he replied: "There is but one best piano, and that is the Steinway, and no other piano approaches it. I want to give the greatest possible pleasure and satisfaction to my audience. By accomplishing that I gain the greatest reputation and that is what I want. This end I attain by using the Steinway.

"I desire you to distinctly understand that there is no money consideration whatever to influence me in my opinion. There may be some pianists who are paid for using and praising the pianos they play upon, but certainly I do not belong to that class. Those who sell their services against their own convictions are on the downward path and have nothing more to lose. You have asked me my candid opinion about pianos for the benefit of the public and I have told you what I honestly think on the subject."

FOURTEEN PAGES.

Freight Congestion.

The facts set forth in our news columns relating to railroad congestion in the Pittsburgh district ought to furnish very interesting reading, not only to President Cassatt, who is our guest today, but to all thoughtful men who have the welfare of the community at heart. The evil is a vital one—so vital that it even threatens our manufacturing supremacy. We have no doubt that one object of Mr. Cassatt's visit is to study this problem, and we believe he will do so to some purpose.

In this connection, we beg leave to remind our city authorities that various ordinances are before councils, the passage of which would in some measure, at least, better existing conditions. We refer not only to the Wabash ordinances, but to those granting privileges to other railroads as well. Wherever it can be done without detriment to the city or to its property owners these measures should be taken up and passed at once. It is a hard district at best in which to handle freight, and the railroads should be granted every possible facility for bettering their terminals.

Advice to Holdovers.

If holdover members of the select branch, who are accused of a determination to block the will of the people by obstructing the majority in councils will accept the advice of The Gazette they will aid materially to clear the political and municipal atmosphere. At the February election the faction they are allied with was beaten all along the line, and in wards represented by holdovers large majorities were given for the Citizens ticket. It was expected that holdover councilmen would recognize the will of the people as expressed at the ballot box and move in harmony with it; but they have chosen to pursue the same course as formerly, to the detriment of public business. Perhaps they do not consider that the people expressed themselves with sufficient emphasis and believe that if it was to be done again the vote would be different. If the select councilmen hold such opinions their correctness can be determined beyond question by a new appeal to the people. The holdovers have made records in the short time that has elapsed since the new councils came in, and it would be of value to all concerned to have those records submitted for popular approval at special elections in the wards the holdovers represent. Let the members who are opposing the majority resign and stand for re-election. If they are returned to their seats the indorsement of their constituents must be accepted as representative of public opinion. The proposition is a fair one, and if they are not afraid of the people they will accept it.

No Sunday Oppression.

A published statement that Recorder Brown announces in advance of the heated term that he does not intend to make a summer specialty of enforcement of the so-called blue laws will be received with satisfaction. Properly interpreted, the blue laws are not oppressive, but an eighteenth century interpretation of them applied to twentieth century conditions may be the refinement of cruelty and do violence to the spirit and letter of the Gospels. We have seen something of this in Pittsburgh, and we are glad if there is to be none of it this coming summer. Life in closely built-up city streets is bad enough during extremely hot weather without making conditions intolerable by depriving poor people of ordinary comforts through absolute barricading for the day of rest of sources of supply of necessary refreshments that cannot be kept sweet and wholesome for long periods in their homes.

The Delegate Problem.

The admitted purpose of the local organization with regard to the delegates to the state convention is to hold them together to be turned over in one bunch to the candidate that can do the organization the most good. It has been understood that an obligation existed, as a result of the shifting of recorders after the November election, to line up the delegation for the candidate chosen by the governor to be his successor. The announced program disowns obligation. It may be that the result of the February election, which was a rebuke of the deal between the governor and the local organization, is accepted as terminating arrangements previously made. It may be that the local organization considers the deal to have been thus abrogated and it may be that the Harrisburg parties to it consider themselves powerless to object or to retaliate. Be that as it may, the acknowledged purpose of the organization to use the delegates to the state convention for trading purposes has no more to commend it than had the deal it is intended to supersede. It is simply a continuation of the system of trading for mutual political and business advantage that has been so stingingly rebuked by the people, and it is not more likely to meet with popular favor now than formerly. It is also to be observed that the organization's attitude does not eliminate Elkin from its considerations, and the declarations made in its behalf leave it free to deliver to his support such delegates as it may control if its leaders deem it for their benefit to do so in pursuance of former arrangements or of new ones. The Republicans of this city are on record against the carrying out of the old deal or of any similar deal.

Our Canadian Trade.

That our commercial relations with Canada are intimate is what might naturally be expected from the geographical position of the two countries. So closely allied are our industrial international relations that, with the exception of Great Britain and Germany, our trade with Canada is greater than with any other country in the world, and is as great as with Central America, Mexico and the West Indies together. It is a fundamental axiom of political economy that the foreign trade of one country with another must bear a reciprocal relation to continue. A poor or comparatively poor country cannot go on buying from a rich neighbor unless she gives in exchange a considerable portion of her products in return.

Canada, it should be borne in mind, nearly equals in extent the United States. The Dominion is thinly populated and it will require generations to bring it into serious competition with us in the world's markets. But that should not blind us to the fact that Europe has a vast, hungry army seeking an outlet for their energies in other lands. These hordes are fully capable of developing Canadian resources to our detriment, should the immigration movement trend northward. Canada has a number of products which we require, and which are growing scarce here. By treating with her on reciprocal terms we should not only maintain the balance of trade in our favor, but indefinitely increase it. Such a policy is worthy of our serious and most enlightened political consideration.

The Public Buildings Bill.

In passing the omnibus bill for public buildings up to the senate, the house of representatives once more this session throws on the upper house a responsibility that should have been borne by itself. In the omnibus bill good and bad propositions are intermingled, and stand or fall together unless the senate weeds out the bad from the good. Unless the senate does this all will fall when they reach the president. Places that have no need of a government building are given thousands of dollars in the bill, some of them as much as $50,000. Congressmen who had meritorious propositions feared to antagonize the vicious ones for fear of the effect on the fortunes of their own desired buildings. Therefore, all passed. This is wrong. Grants of money for public buildings should be made on a well-defined principle that will make the establishment of a government building dependent on the need for it, and that will make the cost bear some relation to the use to which the building is to be put and the magnitude of the interests it is to serve. At present the strength of the congressional pull is the largest determining factor, and much money is voted where little or none should be granted, while the public service may be made suffer in other directions for lack of needed improvements.

Making the People Pay.

The agitation against the beef combine has been a good thing, for a time at least, for the retail dealers in meat and for the cheap restaurants. In the first flush of the anti-trust agitation, while people were too busily employed contemplating the iniquity of the combine to notice anything else, they didn't observe that when the combine added one cent per pound to the price of meat the retail dealer went it several better by way of emphasis, and when the cheap restaurants, or at least some of them, added five cents to their charge for a portion meat, they not only passed along to the consumer the increase in cost of the raw material, but added materially to it for the good of their bank balances. Retail meat dealers and restaurant keepers have been looking out for themselves while the controversy has been raging, leaving the combine to bear all the odium. All of which reinforces the view that human nature is human nature, whether the dealer is a retail dealer or a trust. The beef baron may claim tribute, but it begins to appear that his tax gatherer isn't missing anything. However, this does not materially improve the case of the combine, even if it does relieve it of some of the accusations made against it.

A Diplomatic Difficulty.

Those who have read Nathaniel Hawthorne's delightful "English Note Book" will sympathize with Charles B. Hart in his unpleasant misunderstanding with the Colombian government. The post of a minister is not at best one of the sinecures of the diplomatic office. In the Latin republics it is aggravated by circumstances which almost render it intolerable upon occasion. The Colombian government accuses Mr. Hart of favoring the rebels. It is beyond the wit of man to conceive what personal or political interest he could have to serve in siding with one party more than another. He had none; and we believe the charges made against him to be ridiculous. Mr. Hart is a man of common sense, a man of wide and varied experience in business, political and journalistic life. As editor of the Wheeling Intelligencer he has shown himself capable of appreciating issues which were of infinitely greater importance than the rebellious intrigues of a handful of Colombian agitators.

More Naval Cadets.

Boys with a desire to serve their country at sea will be glad to learn that the chances of becoming a cadet at the Annapolis Naval academy will soon be more numerous. The United States navy is being enlarged and the new vessels will have to be officered. The battleships and cruisers are complicated machines, and they need men to take charge of them who are educated expressly for that purpose. The present supply is inadequate, and the yearly list of graduates would never catch up with the demand. To meet the exigencies of the case, 500 additional cadets will be received at the naval academy in the next four years, in installments of 125 a year.

The president will have the appointment of 24 of the new cadets. The remainder will be appointed by senators and representatives. Uncle Sam has the ships and is getting more, and he must have the proper sort of officers for them.

It has not altogether escaped notice that it was during the discussion of the agricultural appropriation bill in the house of representatives on Monday that Representative Sibley made his fierce attack on Gen. Smith. At first blush the relation of agriculture to the Smith case may not be apparent, but when it is recalled that a portion of the instructions given by Gen. Smith to Maj. Waller was to make the presumably fertile island of Samar "a howling wilderness" the connection becomes apparent, and Mr. Sibley is at once cleared of the suspicion that has found some currency of having broken into the discussion with irrelevant matter for the mere purpose of making a play to the grand stand. We do not think the congressman from Venango was spurred to denunciation, as has been printed, by a gubernatorial ambition, for he thrust that aside some time ago in a letter declaring he would not compete for the honor. He spoke, we believe, from the fullness of his heart and if his speech was not delivered under the proper heading it was at least well timed and tuned for popular consumption. Mr. Sibley's heart is in the right place, even if he did urge extreme measures with Brig. Gen. Smith in advance of the verdict.

The Right Rev. Benjamin J. Keiley, Catholic bishop of Savannah, went a trifle farther than Messrs. Watterson and Tillman in calling President Roosevelt harsh names. But what difference does it make.

Lord Kelvin thinks that the electric plants at Niagara Falls may be able to manufacture diamonds. Anyhow they are already making gold for their owners who can buy diamonds if they can't make them.

Senator Rawlins is a trifle late with his explanation that he didn't exactly call Gen. Chaffee a dastard villain. The evidence is strongly against the senator, even with the explanation.

New Plan to Hide the Ugliness of the L Road

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, April 29, 1902.

The Municipal Art society, which has for its main object the beautifying of New York city, always shrinks from the gaunt ugliness of the "L" roads. The society admits that the elevated railways are useful. It is even possible that members of the society often make their way from downtown to Harlem and the Bronx in an elevated train and think it a convenient mode of transportation; but the society never forgets that the "L" pillars and tracks are not things of beauty. At the annual meeting of the society last evening the wretched "L" pillars were again discussed, and then a bright idea struck one of the members. Why not purchase the Corinthian columns which have for so many years been a feature of the Lafayette place facade of the Old Colonnade hotel, soon to go the way of many other landmarks of the metropolis? At once the hat was passed around, and now citizens are asked to contribute to a fund for the purchase of the monoliths. The idea is to place them in a long row or peristyle on the western edge of Bryant park, where the new library is to be, and cover them with vines and flowers, so that they will hide the "L" structure. The proposal meets with general approval. The only regret in connection with it is that the flowers and vines will not deaden the sound of the trains. If this peristyle should be built and found to be satisfactory there will be a determined effort on the part of the Municipal Art society to beautify other parts of the city that suffer aesthetically by the presence of the elevated road. It is not likely that this will be done to a great extent downtown, because there is not much room for ornamentation below Fourteenth street; but uptown the peristyle and garlanded pillar idea could be worked out to a degree that would increase the beauty of the town considerably. New York is not an ugly town, on the whole; but there is plenty of room for the Municipal Art society to do much valuable work.

Wall Street's Gratitude to Tappen.

I happened to be in the New York clearing house this afternoon, and while there was reminded that the financial giants of Wall street are not so absorbed in business as to forget favors done them by men who have passed away. A magnificent album was on view in Manager Sherer's private office, prepared by the clearing house committee for presentation to Mrs. Frederick D. Tappen. Pittsburghers generally remember that Frederick D. Tappen was chairman of the clearing house committee up to the time of his death a few weeks ago, and that he was one of the most active and respected financiers on the street. He came to the relief of the money market on many occasions and averted panic several times when it seemed as if there must be a general crash. His most notable achievement in this line was at the time of the excitement about a year ago when the price of money went up to 200 per cent. Mr. Tappen threw $15,000,000 or $20,000,000 into the street and thrust the figure down to 6 per cent. This and many other like incidents are Wall street history, and Mr. Tappen's name is always spoken of with respect. The album to be given to Mrs. Tappen tonight is a leather-bound book with a portrait of Mr. Tappen as a frontispiece, and then on many leaves marbled in imitation of the walls of the new clearing house building, are reproductions of bits of the architecture of the edifice done by clever artists. The book is simply splendid. Only one has been made, and the firm, Ames & Rollinson, of this city, that made it, say that it excels immeasureably the illuminations and engrossing that was done in mediaeval times, and which have been generally considered unapproachable.

Probst Will Return to Pittsburgh.

Samuel B. Brobst, a Pittsburgher well known as a clever musician and actor, has just returned to New York after a long season with "Ben Hur." He has been assistant musical director, occasionally playing parts in the drama. He was the "Drusis" for a considerable time, the character enjoying the distinction of being the only real comedy part in the drama. Gen. Wallace does not run much to comedy. Mr. Brobst expects to be in Pittsburgh in the course of two or three weeks to remain there for the summer. He will sing in the parks and elsewhere, according to his custom. He says he has had a pleasant and profitable winter on the road.

Hitching Strap for Your Mobe.

Automobile hitching posts are the latest in New York. The horseless machine is as refractory and skittish as a young horse sometimes, and it really is not safe to leave one in the street for a few moments unfed. So genius has come forward with a wire cable and padlock. You fasten this to your auto and lock it to a ring in an ordinary iron post, or fastened to the stone walk, and go into the milliner's, saloon, office or what not with the comfortable assurance that you will find your mobe, champing at its bit, perhaps, but safely tied where you left it.

Fireproof Fakirs.

The Society of American Fakirs, which holds an exhibition of burlesque works of art in the picture line every year, just before the fancy ball of the Art Students' league, will not take chances on fire, if it can be helped. Last year the decorations of the ballroom took fire just before the art students got into it for their dance. The ball was postponed indefinitely in consequence. The exhibition of the fakirs began today. It is at 215 West Seventy-fifth street, and the owners of the building would not allow the function to take place until all the decorations had been examined and declared practically fire proof. The fakirs solemnly agreed to this condition, and, to prove their sincerity, have issued the catalogue in asbestos covers. About the hallway leading up to the exhibition are hung the relics of palettes and paint boxes which passed through the fire, each bearing an appropriate inscription, and one, which was injured only by water, saying: "I was too stingy to burn." The lesson of the fire seems to have sunk deep, for one of the posters which received a prize in the poster competition represents the Laocoon group, with John La Farge as the central figure, and two fakirs beside him wrestling with a long, wriggling length of hose that looks shaky enough, in all conscience, and at the same time gives comfortable assurance of prompt action in case of fire.

Pittsburgh Comedian's Good Salary.

Charles A. Bigelow, the comedian who has been with Anna Held's company for the last four years, has been engaged for Weber & Fields' music hall next season. Rumor, which probably is correct this time, says he will get $400 a week. He has been receiving $300 with Anna Held. He is worth the money he gets, because he "draws" that amount and more into the house, and yet it is not so many years since he drew $25 a week for singing and acting in New York. You know, of course, that Bigelow is a Pittsburgher.

Merely a Half-Million Dollar Hotel.

A half-million-dollar hotel is such a trifling enterprise in New York that it is hardly more than mere mention. As a matter of record, then, plans have been filed for a 12-story brick apartment hotel in Thirty-first street, between Fifth avenue and Broadway. The estimated cost is $500,000.

The Carnegies Headed for Skibo.

Andrew Carnegie, with Mrs. Carnegie and little Miss Margaret, will sail tomorrow morning on the American liner St. Louis for Southampton. They will visit London, it is understood, remaining there for the coronation, probably, and then go to Skibo castle, where the laird has said he always feels most at home, after Pittsburgh. Among the Pittsburghers who will be Mr. Carnegie's fellow passengers are Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Carnahan, Robert B. Carnahan, Miss Violet Brockiebank, J. W. Kendrick, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Loud and their two children, H. C. Tener, A. G. Updegraff and Mr. and Mrs. George Westinghouse, S. Bugeleisen of Greensburg, Pa., also will be a passenger.

Cockran Voices Tammany.

Bourke Cockran, who came into New York on the Kronprinz Wilhelm today, takes the regulation Tammany view of the present municipal administration, or pretends he does. Somebody asked him as he came up the bay his opinion of District Attorney Jerome, and the silver-tongued one replied, with that famous smile of his: "The whole reform movement is an amusing spectacle." That sounds as if it came direct from Wantage—and perhaps it did.

Labor and Capital Lunch Together.

Millionaires and miners sat down to luncheon together today in this city. President G. F. Baer of the Reading railroad was the host. Others at the table were President E. B. Thomas of the Erie, President W. H. Truesdale of the Delaware & Lackawanna, John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America; John Fahey, T. D. Nichols and Thomas Duffy, representing the 140,000 anthracite miners who want more wages and recognition of their union. The luncheon was a pleasant meal and good fellowship evidently prevailed. But tomorrow the truce will be ended and then will come war to the knife, unless some understanding is reached. The bill of fare of the luncheon comprised raw apples, breakfast bacon, beefsteak, chicken, fried potatoes, bread and butter, ice cream, coffee and cigars. A good meal for either coupon-cutters or coaldiggers.

The City Budget.

Although the details of the new municipal budget will not be made public until tomorrow, New Yorkers learned today that their tax rate for this year will be $2 27 per $100, against $2 31 per $100 last year. The total assessment this year will be $100,000,000 over that of last year, which exceeded the previous year's figures by $133,000,000.

Crowninshield's Flagship.

There was excitement in the Brooklyn navy yard this morning when Rear Admiral Crowninshield's flag was raised on the battleship Illinois. The vessel will represent the American navy at the coronation of King Edward VII. As the bunting fluttered above today the crew of the ship, in dress togs, were lined up on deck, and 13 guns were fired as a salute.

Putting Off the Evil Day.

It was said today by persons of inside information that the Broadway tabernacle will not be torn down as soon as was expected. It was announced that the work would begin today, but now it is determined that the demolition will not be set going until after Thursday. The congregation of the old church do not like to see it going, and are putting off the evil day as long as possible.

Frank Gould's Yacht Tried Out.

The trial trip of Frank J. Gould's new steam yacht Helenita, which took place yesterday, demonstrated that the vessel is one of the fastest pleasure boats of her class afloat. The trial was over a course 14 miles long, from Yonkers to Tarrytown and return. The recorded speed was 19.16 miles an hour, nearly as fast as the running time of many of the trains on the New York Central. The trial was under the supervision of Charles E. Seabury, the builder. Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Gould, Edwin Gould, Stewart Bell Harned and N. A. Campbell made the trip and were stationed on the bridge.

New Sieve at Ellis Island.

As the 3,228 Germans and Italian immigrants who arrived from Hamburg and Naples on the Kronprinz Wilhelm, the City of Toledo and the California passed through the United States immigration office on Ellis island this morning they may not have noticed a determined looking man of heavy build carefully scrutinizing them; but Commissioner William Williams, who assumed office only yesterday, did not allow one person in the varied assemblage to escape him. He had an eye out for the cleanliness and intelligence of them all—in brief, he had begun his policy of taking the personal measure of every new candidate for citizenship under the Stars and Stripes.

Prof. Fessenden's Success.

From the Philadelphia Press.

When it was announced at the close of 1898 that Prof. Reginald A. Fessenden, then professor of physics in the Western University of Pennsylvania, had devised "a receiver for wireless telegraphy 20 times more sensitive than the 'coherer' of the Marconi system," many doubtless viewed the statement as one of the numerous laboratory claims that are often made when some important discovery is under discussion. Such, however, was not the case with Prof. Iessenden's claim. The importance and value of his discovery soon led to his being secured by Secretary Wilson as an expert attached to the United States weather bureau. And for over two years the physicist has been experimenting with a wireless telegraphy system which seems, from the latest accounts, to have solved the problem in a striking manner.

Aside from the success of Prof. Fessenden in operating his new system without a coherer, and very rapidly at that, the significant feature of these experiments is that the system, by previous arrangement made with Prof. Fessenden, becomes the property of the United States government. As Prof. Fessenden has pointed out, rather caustically, this settles many things. There is, for instance, no danger of a monopoly on the part of Marconi or any one else, now that the government experiments on Roanoke island have shown the practicability of a new system which can send 500 words a minute over 50 miles at very slight expenditure of electrical energy.

And as to the success of the experiments there seems to be no question. Gen. Greely, of the United States signal service; the officers of the coast and geodetic survey and the naval officers who witnessed the experiments last week agree fully with Prof. Fessenden as to the practicability of his system and it looks as if the United States now owns the best wireless telegraphic method known. In view of this it is hardly necessary to say that the possibilities that lie in the use of this system by the government bureaus are very far-reaching. If Prof. Fessenden can extend the distance of transmission over land so as to cover the gaps between the great centers of population the government will be in a position to make a very impressive display of its new invention and will be able to make many economies in its various services that are now compelled to run up big telegraph bills.

The weather bureau is to be congratulated on these preliminary successes of the Fessenden system, and its further extension will be awaited with profound interest the country over.

PERSONALS.

William T. Lindsay, clerk of the United States district court, received a message yesterday from Deputy Clerk Warren A. Sherwood, announcing the sudden death of the latter's father at his home in Elyria, O. Mr. Sherwood left the city last Saturday on a business trip through Ohio, intending to visit his father before his return, and when he reached his home yesterday he found him very low with an attack of pneumonia, from which he died about 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

L. M. La Favre, a cotton and sugar broker of New Orleans, passed through Pittsburgh last night en route to Washington. While waiting for his train he discussed crop conditions in the south, and said he thought Louisiana would produce more cotton and sugar this season than in the past several years. Talking about the alleged British camp at Chalmette, he said that many horses and mules had been shipped from that point to South Africa. "In the past two years," he remarked, "thousands of mules and horses have been sent from Chalmette to South Africa, and I suppose they have been used in the war against the Boers. English agents were in charge at the point of shipment, but when it developed that the port was being used contrary to the neutrality laws the governor of Louisiana called the attention of the general government to the fact.

Congressman John F. Lacey of the Sixth congressional district, Iowa, accompanied by his wife, passed through Pittsburgh on his way to Washington last night. When seen at Union station he said: "I have read Mr. Sibley's speech as published in the newspapers. I hope Gen Smith has been misquoted in regard to his orders, but if it is proven that he issued such an order he should be deprived of his commission." Congressman Lacey is chairman of the committee on public lands.

R. H. Baldwin, an oil man of Beaumont, Tex., went to Washington over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad last night. "Almost every foot of ground of Spindle Top," he said, "has been covered with derricks, and oil is flowing in large quantities from all the wells. A space of ground 10 feet square in that district is worth almost a fortune. I know of a piece containing 400 square feet that sold for $50,000 a short time ago. The country is full of oil, and other good strikes will shortly be made."

C. M. Brady, president of the Hazel Glass Company of Washington, Pa., was a passenger east over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad last night. "This is our dull season," he said, "and I have no news in the glass line. By the way, the directors of the Citizens National bank of Washington held a meeting today and decided to increase the capital stock $100,000." Mr. Brady has just returned from England. While in that country he visited the Jessop Steel Company in Sheffield. This company is building a new plant near Washington, Pa., and the English stockholders are very much pleased with their new location.

Henry B. Birch and wife went to Lexington, Ky., last night to attend the funeral of the late Rev. Dr. G. M. F. Birch, pastor of the Bethany Presbyterian church, who died in New York Sunday.

F. H. Andrews, brother-in-law of Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, vice president of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, was a passenger west on the limited last night.

Hon. F. W. Peck of Chicago, who was general commissioner to the Paris exposition, passed through Pittsburgh last night on the limited. "I think," he remarked, "that the St. Louis exposition will be one of the most successful yet held in this country."

Simon Burns, president of the Window Glass association, went to Washington over the Pennsylvania railroad last night.

The Rev. John Etgen, editor of the Evangelical Magazine; Rev. G. Heinmitter, editor of the Christian Botschafter, and Isaac Y. Moyer of Cleveland were passengers over the Baltimore & Ohio last night to Baltimore. They will attend the conference of the Atlantic Evangelical association to be held in that city.

Morton Funeral Services.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Funeral services over the late J. Sterling Morton, former secretary of agriculture, were held at the First Presbyterian church at Lake Forest today, the Rev. Dr. J. K. McClure, pastor of the church, officiating. Relatives and friends from Chicago were taken to Lake Forest on a special train to attend the services. Later in the day the body was taken on a special train to Nebraska City, where final services will be held and interment made.

THE DEATH ROLL.

James Lloyd Ramsay.

James Lloyd Ramsay, cashier of the Homestead National bank, and one of the best-known young business men of Homestead, died late Monday night at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ramsay, in Dickson street, after a brief illness, resulting from typhoid fever. He was not quite 26 years old. Mr. Ramsay had only been ill a short time, and not until Friday last was there fear that his illness would prove fatal. On that date he suffered a relapse and gradually sank until his death, a few minutes before 11 o'clock Monday night. He was born in Sharon, near Irwin, Pa., August 12, 1877. His parents moved to Homestead when he was two years of age. He received his education in the public schools of Homestead and later in the normal university at Ada, O. He had held many positions of trust in Homestead, and when the Homestead National bank was organized he became connected with it. His rise with the institution was rapid, and when the bank was reorganized and the capital increased to $100,000 in 1900, he was made cashier, the position which he held at the time of his death. He was extremely popular with all and a brilliant future was in store for him. Mr. Ramsey is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ramsay, of whom he was an only child, four uncles, John D. Stahl, president of the Homestead National bank, and the Rev. L. W. Stahl, presiding elder of the Greensburg United Brethren church; Harry Ramsey and John Ramsey, business men of Mt. Pleasant. A pathetic circumstance of Mr. Ramsey's death is the fact that he was to have been married to a prominent young lady of Allentown early in June.

JAMES LLOYD RAMSAY,

Jonas Frazee.

Jonas Frazee, 45 years old, a brother of C. F. He was born at Selbysport, Md., where his mother still resides at the advanced age of 80 years. Mr. Frazee is survived by his wife, seven children and four brothers. The latter are Charles F. of the East End, D. W., Jasper and A. J. Frazee of Selbysport, Md.

Mrs. Susan Neely.

Mrs. Susan Neely, 75 years old, wife of John A. Neely, died yesterday at her home in Fife street, Sewickley, of heart disease. She was a member of the Sewickley Methodist Episcopal church, and is survived by eight children: Mannan and Grant of Sewickley, Theodore of Shannopin, Mrs. Margaret Gow of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Grace Harper of Allegheny, Mrs. Samuel Boyd of Pittsburgh, Mrs. D. F. Prestice of McKees Rocks and Mrs. Rebecca McCarriber of Coraopolis.

The Rev. Andrew J. Hutchinson.

BUTLER, PA., April 29.—The Rev. Andrew Jackson Hutchinson died at his home here this morning after a long illness. He was born in Butler county 74 years ago. He was a veteran of the civil war. After the war, through blood-poisoning, caused by the bite of a horse, he lost an arm. In 1881 he was elected county commissioner on the Republican ticket. After retiring from that office he became a minister in the Methodist Episcopal church. One daughter, Mrs. A. J. Thompson, resides in Butler.

Hutchinson—Leppert Wedding.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutchinson, in Fulton street, Allegheny, was the scene of a handsome home wedding last night, when the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson, Elizabeth Doyd Hutchinson, was wedded to Mr. Charles William Leppert. The decoration scheme employed was green and white, and the parlor in which the wedding ceremony took place, was made especially attractive. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. J. M. Thoburn, pastor of Calvary Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny. The bride was given away by her father. She was charmingly gowned in pointe d'esprit, her only ornament being a large heart of solid pearls. Her bouquet was of bride's roses, tied with white ribbon. The bride was attended by Miss Mabel Johnson, who wore mousseline de soie, trimmed in real lace, and carried pink carnations. The little flower girl, Sarah, sister of the bride, wore a dainty gown of doted Swiss, and strewed roses in front of the bridal party in its procession to the parlor. The best man was Mr. Oscar Leppert, brother of the groom; the bridesmaid being Miss Mary Edna Bell of Washington, D. C., who was gowned in white organdy and carried pink carnations. A wedding dinner was served in the breakfast room, the decorations of which were also green and white. Mr. and Mrs. Leppert left for a trip to the east at the expiration of which they will take up their residence in Aspinwall where they have a beautiful home, No. 115 Second street and will be at home on Thursday after June 1. Mr. Leppert has a responsible position with the Pittsburgh Railways Company while the bride is a niece of Delinquent Tax Collector Robert Ostermaier.

PROSPERITY HAS DONE MUCH FOR EUROPEAN TRAVEL

Indications Are That All Records Will Be Surpassed This Season.

PITTSBURGHERS IN RUSH

Many Will Sail Early in May and Bookings for Next Two Months Leave Nothing Choice—Demand for Second Cabin Quarters.

An unusually large number of Pittsburgh people are going abroad this summer. The indications are that local steamship agencies will break all records for bookings this year. This heavy travel is attributed to the general prosperity of the country.

J. J. McCormick said:

"Last year we did the biggest business of any single steamship agency in the country. From all indications we will do much more business this year. We have a great many people who cross every year, but this year we are getting a number of new people. I notice that the steerage is not patronized so heavily this year as ordinarily. It seems that those returning for a visit to their native land are generally using the second cabin. This fact alone demonstrates the prosperity of the laboring classes. Rates this year are a little higher on account of the heavy travel. First cabin passage runs from $20 to $25 higher and there is a difference of about $5 in the second cabin.

"Persons planning a trip to Europe this summer who have not already engaged passage will do well to arrange for it soon, for each day the best staterooms are being taken and it is getting harder to secure quarters asked for. Pittsburgh people do not seem to have any favorite line. All the big lines do a big Pittsburgh business."

Indications of Prosperity.

William F. Benkeser, steamship manager for the foreign department of the First National bank, said: "I believe that we will do a bigger business than we did in 1900, which we regarded as our banner year. That season the Paris exposition took many people to Europe and we did a big business, but indications are that we will do better this year. I believe the general prosperity of the country is what is taking people to Europe. We are booking a great many short trips, routes of which indicate that the people have never crossed before, showing that people who have heretofore been unable to afford the trip are crossing this year. We have sent over quite a number of Westinghouse employes recently. Probably 150 or 200 have crossed to England to work in the new Manchester works of the company. Almost all the steamers sailing from now until the middle of July are booked full and it is almost impossible to get desirable rooms. The season opened early this year and every steamer sailing now carries its contingent of Pittsburgh people."

Many to Sail in May.

Among the Pittsburgh people who will leave for the other side on steamships sailing early in May are: Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Reilly, Misses Johanna, Mary and Ursula Reilly and Gilbert Reilly; Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Vilsack, Misses Katherine and Mercedes Vilsack and Masters Aloysius, Morris and Karl Vilsack and Miss Donnelly; Mr. and Mrs. William Loeffler, Albert Loeffler and Mrs. Dr. Hopkins; Mr. and Mrs. James I. Kay and daughter; Douglas Stewart and bride (nee Agnes Dickson); Isaac Kaufmann, wife and daughter and Miss Irene Myers; Jacob Kaufmann and family; Henry Kaufmann, wife and daughter and Miss Schoenberg.

TO BUILD TURBINES FOR LONDON ROAD

British Westinghouse Co. Secures Contracts for Power Machinery for Metropolitan Railway Co.

A cablegram from London to the Westinghouse offices here yesterday announced that the Westinghouse steam turbines are to be adopted in the electric generating station to be built for the Metropolitan Railway Company and underground system in London, the contract having just been given to the British Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company of Manchester. The British Westinghouse company is now filling a similar contract for the Metropolitan District Electric Traction Company, also an underground system, and as there will be a general similarity in the two stations it will be easy to arrange for connecting the two and making them interchangeable, as far as the supply of current is concerned. This feature was required by the terms of the franchises of the two roads.

The Metropolitan power station will be located at Neasden, in the northwest of London, and will contain three sets each of 3,500 kilowatts capacity. The Chelsea station of the Metropolitan District railway will contain four sets of 5,000 kilowatts each. The electrical machinery for both stations will also be supplied by the Westinghouse company. The current will be three-phase alternating and of 10,000 volts, to be transformed in sub-stations to direct current for use in the car motors.

The steam for the immense steam turbines in the District and Metropolitan plants will be generated in water tube boilers. The aggregate power of the two plants will be 20,500 kilowatts. It is hoped that in a year and a half the equipment will be complete and in working order.

Much Comment in Braddock.

Not since the Brooks law was enacted has the granting of liquor licenses in Braddock caused as much comment and disappointment as the present license court. The Braddock Temperance union, which made a special effort to furnish the license court with evidence against certain saloon keepers, is among those most disappointed. Saloons that were considered as "sure things" in the way of getting a license were refused and there are many protests from citizens. Many saloons granted are said to have been conducted in a questionable manner.

TO JOIN IN ONE BIG ASSOCIATION

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH IN THIS SECTION INTERESTED.

After This Pittsburgh Will Be the Center for Churches of That Denomination in This Section—Convention Held in First Church Here Yesterday.

The Congregational churches of this and surrounding counties in Western Pennsylvania, which for many years have been identified with the old Welsh, the Northwestern and Steubenville associations, recently came to the conclusion that Pittsburgh being a central location, a Pittsburgh association should be organized to embrace the nearby congregations. Following this idea a preliminary meeting was held and a committee composed of the Rev. G. B. Newton, the Rev. Thomas Clayton and the Rev. George Marsh was appointed to prepare a constitution and by-laws and to invite the several congregations to organize with them.

Churches in the vicinity were invited to send delegates to a convention which was held yesterday afternoon and evening in the First Congregational church, Fifth avenue and Washington street, under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers.

Some 30 or 40 delegates and ministers were present, representing the following Congregational churches: First, Pittsburgh; First, Allegheny; First Braddock; South Side, Puritan; South Side, Welsh; Slavic, Allegheny; First, Rochester; Swedish, Pittsburgh; First, north and south, Ebensburg; First, Horatio; First, Lindsay; First, Sharon; First, Homestead; First, Steubenville; Duquesne, Slavic; Braddock, Slavic, and Stockdale, Slavic.

The temporary officers elected were: Chairman, Thomas Addenbrook, and scribe, J. M. Bausman. A committee on constitution and by-laws was appointed and during the proceedings their report was unanimously adopted.

The object of the present organization, it was stated yesterday, was to have concerted action among the Welsh, Slavic, English and Swedish churches. The following permanent officers were elected: Moderator, Thomas Addenbrook of Braddock; scribe, William M. Jones of Allegheny; registrar, the Rev. G. B. Newton of Pittsburgh, and treasurer, D. J. Jones of Allegheny. The executive committee appointed by the moderator is composed of the Rev. Thomas Clayton, the Rev. W. F. Slade and D. J. Evans.

At the close of the session Dr. Dunning of Boston, editor of the Congregationalist, opened a discussion on the subject of "The Pulpit Message for Today." At 6 o'clock an adjournment was voted in order to partake of the supper prepared by the ladies of the church for the ministers and delegates in the lecture room.

The evening session, which convened at 8 o'clock, consisted of devotional exercises, hymns, remarks by the president, Thomas Addenbrook, and an address by Dr. Dunning on the subject of "Congregationalism." The next meeting of the association will probably be held in October.

THE delegates from the Pennsylvania society, Sons of the American Revolution, left last evening for Washington, D. C., to attend the national congress of the S. A. R. which opens this morning in the capital city. The delegates included William Larimer Jones, president of the Pennsylvania society; the Hon. James Denton Hancock of Franklin, vice president general of the National society; Col. Albert J. Logan, Henry D. Sellers, R. W. Guthrie, Thomas Stephen Brown of Pittsburgh, H. K. Gregory of New Castle, Gen. Willis J. Hulings of Oil City and the Hon. Arthur L. Bates of Meadville. Harry Blynn of Philadelphia is also a delegate from the Pennsylvania society.

The sessions of the congress will be held at the New Willard hotel. The opening session will be held this morning. At the same hour a reception will be given by Mrs. Roosevelt at the White House to the ladies accompanying the delegates. This afternoon a sight-seeing tour will be made, including visits to Arlington, Fort Myer, Cabin John and other points. This evening the District of Columbia society will give a reception. Tomorrow afternoon the delegates will be taken to Mount Vernon, where an oration will be delivered at the tomb of Washington by the Hon. John Goode of Virginia. Following the oration a tree from the Lexington battlefield will be planted. After the ceremonies at Mount Vernon the party will cross to Marshall hall and enjoy a shad bake which will be flavored with speeches by the delegates.

The annual banquet will be held on Friday evening, when the Hon. David J. Hill will be the toastmaster and speeches will be made by a number of speakers of national reputation, President Roosevelt will be a guest at the banquet.

An interesting ceremony was performed at Washington yesterday by the delegation from the New York society. A bronze marker was placed upon the grave of Gen. George Clinton in the Congressional cemetery. Clinton was a revolutionary patriot, the first governor of New York and twice vice president of the United States.

Browne—Rogers.

A quiet wedding took place last evening in Bellevue when Miss Henrietta Anna Browne, the daughter of George H. Browne, and Walter Rogers of Brushton were married at the residence of the bride's father in Sheridan avenue. The Rev. Dr. McClure of Avalon officiated at the ceremony, which was witnessed only by the immediate friends and relatives of the two families. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. George Armstrong of Allegheny, as matron of honor, and Miss Helen Armstrong, her niece, as little flower girl. The bride wore a gown of white mousseline de soie with trimmings of duchess lace, and she carried white roses. Her sister wore white crepe de chine and carried white lilacs. The little flower girl was also in white with touches of green and carried white carnations. There was a reception after the ceremony, but a wedding supper was served to about 50 guests, the intimate friends of the bride and bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers left on an eastern tour, and will make their home on their return, with the bride's father in Bellevue. At home cards have been issued for days after June 1. Among the out-of-town guests in attendance at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hetz of Latrobe, Mr. and Mrs. George Shane of Washington, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Rogers of Chicago, the parents of the bridegroom, and a number of others.

Reading at Lyndhurst.

The drawing room reading given yesterday afternoon by Miss Milne at "Lyndhurst," Mrs. William Thaw's lovely home in Beechwood boulevard, was one of the smartest affairs of the spring season. The reading was for the benefit of the Ladies' association of the Homeopathic hospital, of which Mrs. Thaw is president. The immense reception hall and the drawing rooms and library which open from it were filled with chairs, occupied by several hundred ladies, richly gowned. Beside the slightly elevated platform stood a piano, and upon it a vase of flowers. The quiet grandeur of the great hall with its costly hangings and rich curious treasure gathered from every country on the face of the globe, proved a unique setting for the very delightful entertainment given by Miss Milne.

Most pleasing of all her readings, without doubt, were her own original monologues, unique character sketches in which wit and humor, sadness and tenderness were combined. The snatches of character study presented by David Harum and the people of that book were delightful representations while the giving of the arena scene from "Quo Vadis," instead of the previously announced selection from "The Prince of India," was a happy thought, showing in stronger manner the real versatility of the reader. A graceful and gracious manner, a distinct and charming personality and rich and full voice, subservient to every thought, are some of the personal characteristics Miss Milne presents to her audiences.

Miss Milne arrived in Pittsburgh on Monday and is being entertained at the home of Mrs. J. J. Vandergrift in Fifth avenue, East End. It was at the suggestion of Mrs. Vandergrift and Mrs. George L. McCoy, who had heard her at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, that she came to Pittsburgh at this time. This afternoon Mrs. McCoy gives an afternoon tea for Miss Milne, who leaves for New York tonight.

Kennedy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Allegheny. The house was filled with relatives of the bride and bridegroom. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Elva H. Gerwig, and Miss Anna Stevenson as bridesmaids, and her youngest sister, Miss Helen A. Gerwig, was the flower girl. The groomsmen were C. J. McDowell and Dr. Charles B. Fickes. The bride wore a wedding gown of white crepe de chine trimmed with lace, and her flowers were white bride's roses. The maids were dressed in white and pink, these being the colors of the floral decorations throughout the house.

Dinner and Wedding Rehearsal.

The dinner was followed by a rehearsal of the wedding party at the residence of the bride's father, City Treasurer David R. Torrance, where the marriage will be solemnized this evening by the Rev. Robert J. Coster. The bridal attendants include the maid of honor, Miss Alice Torrance; two bridesmaids, Miss Edna Bown and Miss Albertina Junker, and the best man, Lieut. Alfred Allen Maybach, also of Ft. Terry. A large number of out-of-town guests will be present, Mr. Torrance and his daughters entertaining quite a house party over the event. Wilson, and her cousin, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr. Miss Johnston spent some time this past winter at Palm Beach, where she was entertained extensively, Mrs. E. M. O'Neill entertaining for her several times. She is a southern girl who has won much popularity in New York and and Newport.

PROHIBITIONISTS MEET

State Convention in Ohio in High Glee Over Party Prospects.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ZANESVILLE, O., April 29.—The temperary session of the Prohibition state convention convened this afternoon and E. J. Pinney of Cleveland delivered the campaign keynote speech. The unexpectedly large convention and the fact that the party had reached such proportions that it could now nominate without petition, were the subjects of congratulation and the party was urged to renewed effort.

"Complete tickets must be nominated in every district and county," said Mr. Pinney, "and the nominees for congress must be men who can and will take the stump and keep at work until election day."

He declared that once the vote reached 100,000, the next election would see the party in power.

He characterized the anti-saloon league as a failure, saying: "It has had access to all the churches of the state and spent more than $300,000 in the past 10 years. As a result of this we have seen abolished the laws prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors within two miles of an agricultural fair; the law providing for the recovery of damages for injury by an intoxicated person amended so that it is worthless, and imprisonment for Sunday selling abolished."

A central committee of 21 members was named and will continue the present state executive committee with George L. Case of Cleveland as chairman. The resolutions committee favors the single prohibition plank platform. National Chairman Stewart of Chicago was the principal speaker at the mass meeting tonight.

NEW CASTLE, PA., April 29.—(Special.)—The annual convention of the Prohibitionists of Lawrence county convened here today. About 100 delegates were present, and the presence of State Chairman Charles R. Jones added to the interest. The Prohibitionists expect to elect the minority member of the board of county commissioners. Preparations for the coming state convention to be held here May 21 and 22 have been completed.

At a meeting this evening the following nominations were made: Lawrence county's candidate for congress, the Rev. J. Q. A. McDowell; Capt. M. S. Marquis and J. M. Hamilton, congressional conferees; assembly, George H. Bell; clerk of courts, Prof. I. L. Smith; treasurer, H. H. Horner; commissioner, James Young; auditor, Lawrence Byers of Pulaski.

MANY LICENSE BONDS REJECTED BY COURT

The Disappointed Saloon Proprietors Will Have to Make Quick Time to Open May 1.

Judges Frazer and Rodgers in license court yesterday rejected a number of bonds filed with applications for license, and, as the certificates for the same are ready, there will be some hustling today to have bonds corrected before the successful applicants can open for business.

The bonds rejected were offered by the following persons:

Retail—Peter J. Carr, No. 814 Liberty street; Anna M. Elchenberg, no address; John Garvey, No. 156 Forty-eighth street; Michael F. Clohessy, Braddock; John C. King, Carnegie; John Elchard, Braddock; August Michaelofsky, Carnegie; Adolph Kuehnemond, Duquesne; Luke Lynch, East Pittsburgh; Andrew Macko, Michael Mesty and Joseph McMath, Homestead; Michael McKenna, Wilmerding; Henry Altstadt, Collier township; William McCahill, Jefferson township; William McCahill, Lower St. Clair township; Christian Bonkarts, O'Hara township; Albert Coleman, Rees township; Theresa Keating, Ross township.

Wholesale—James P. Beech, No. 200 Smithfield street; Fritz Moser, No. 302 Grant street.

The killing of Thomas Roy and Thomas Peal of Noblestown on the Panhandle railroad last Saturday night caused Leon Lewis, Paul Dhlnant and Samuel McKnight of Sturgeon many unhappy moments while they were being examined as to where the men procured liquor the night they were killed. They all denied selling the men liquor.

The examination became so sharp that Lewis finally said there were many other places where liquor could be obtained outside of the licensed houses.

He said he had reported speak-easies to Revenue Collector Fetterman, but nothing was done in the matter. Judge Frazer asked him to furnish the information to the court and the places would be closed.

He furnished the names of two speak-easies, and of two young boys who had been drinking with Roy and Peal at these speak-easies at 11:30 Saturday night.

Harry Neuman, son-in-law of Gus Stitzer, is an applicant for a license at the old Evergreen hotel, managed by Stitzer for many years, and who could not get a license last year. The examination was the longest and most severe of the entire six weeks of court. Neuman was kept in the background as much as possible, and Stitzer was to the front. He made several statements to the court as to how he has run the place in the past, and as to how his son-in-law would run it in the future. The evidence showed that the place had borne a most unsavory reputation in the past.

There are still 25 more applicants for liquor licenses to be heard, which means that the entire list will not be cleaned up until tonight.

Delegates Are Uninstructed.

LOCK HAVEN, PA., April 29.—(Special.)—The Republican county convention met today and elected N. P. Johnson and Harry Batcher delegates to the state convention. They were not instructed. Congressman Deemer was indorsed for re-election. A. E. Patton was nominated for senator and O. S. Kelly for assembly.

ELLWOOD CITY LAUGHS AT HIGH PRICE OF BEEF

NEW CASTLE, PA., April 29.—(Special.)—Meat is a drug on the market of Ellwood City, and the action of the beef trust is of little interest there. This condition has resulted from the building of a big dam in the Connoquenessing river by the new Ellwood City Power Company. The workmen have been blasting out places in the river bed for the dam foundation, and the concussions have killed all the fish in the river. The dead fish float to the surface and can be gathered so easily that meat is not needed there.

ELKIN IS WITHOUT GHOST OF A SHOW

Alexander McDowell Believes the Attorney General Has No Chance.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SHARON, PA., April 29.—The Hon. Alexander McDowell of this place has returned from Washington and was asked today concerning the probabilities of the nomination of John P. Elkin for governor. He stated that he does not believe Elkin has a ghost of a show and that there is no likelihood of any agreement being reached between Senator Quay and Elkin, for the latter is not the Beaver man's choice.

Mr. McDowell said the reason he had the committee change the resolution it had prepared instructing the delegates chosen at the primaries on April 5 to support Elkin was because it would have been overwhelmingly defeated when brought before the convention in session at Mercer. The major is positive that the original resolution would not have received more than 15 out of the 60 or 70 votes represented in the convention.

It was to prevent disruption in the party that the resolution was altered so that the delegates were left uninstructed. Major McDowell believes that to put Elkin on the ticket would be against the wishes of the people.

MANY SMALLPOX CASES.

Large Number of Children Have the Disease and Public School Is Closed.

CUMBERLAND, MD., April 29.—(Special.)—The public school at Pinto, this county, has been closed owing to an epidemic of smallpox. Some days ago a negro, employed at the Patterson creek cut of the Baltimore & Ohio, died from the disease, and while the body was lying in a shack two school children viewed the remains, which was the means of the disease spreading. At least 15 children and others are down with smallpox, six farm houses being under quarantine.

MORGANTOWN, W. VA., April 29.—(Special.)—The county board of health established a rigid quarantine in Cheat Neck this afternoon on account of smallpox. The disease is gradually spreading, and there are now at least 25 cases in that section.

HERBERT NIGHT DUQUESNE GARDEN

The Pittsburgh Orchestra Will Play a Number of the Conductor's Compositions This Evening.

The inclement weather prevented many of the Pittsburgh lovers of good music from hearing a real treat last night at the Duquesne garden. In spite of the rain, however, a fair audience gathered, and those who were present were well repaid for their trouble.

Last night's concert of the Pittsburgh orchestra was "Operatic Night," and the program included many of the most perfect gems from the great works of the masters. Although the garden was not nearly filled, those who were present appreciated the rendition of the selections and nearly every number on the program was followed by an encore. Mr. Herbert's good nature was too strong to disappoint those who had braved the elements, and each time he responded gracefully.

The first number on the program was a march, "Our Native Land," one of the leader's own compositions. Nearly all of the other numbers were selections from well-known operas, the names of Rossini, Rubinstein, Verdi, Mascagni, Nessler, Wagner and Massenet appearing in the list of composers.

Tonight will be "Herbert Night" at the garden. The program will be as follows:

March, "The Serenade" ..... Herbert
Overture, "Mignon" ..... Thomas

DUNKARDS TO KILL THEIR BEEF AT CONVENTION

PRICE COMPELS ACTION

Delegates to Harrisburg Meeting to Engage in Slaughtering.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, PA., April 29.—The German Baptists or Dunkards are buying live beef and will do their own slaughtering for the annual meeting to be held in this city for 20 days during May. The meeting will be attended by upward of 50,000 members of the church, representing every state and territory in the union.

The recent large advance in the price of beef, which the trust has exacted, has become a serious problem with the committee having charge of the feeding of this great multitude.

The rise in the cost of meat would require a very material increase in the amount of money set aside for that article of food and to overcome this trouble they are quietly buying their own live beef and will have their slaughtering done privately. The committee has been scouring the country in this locality and expects to secure more than 100 head of cattle during the next 10 days.

TWO STORES ROBBED.

Burglars at West Middlesex, Pa., Got Away With $450 Worth of Goods.

SHARON, PA., April 29.—(Special.)—Burglars at West Middlesex early this morning got away with about $450 worth of goods. They entered the store of W. W. Johnson & Co., getting about $100 worth of cutlery and revolvers. Then they broke into W. W. Hyde's store, carrying off $350 worth of jewelry.

They had just broken down the front door of the store of T. J. Marshall when frightened away. Three men were in the gang and the police are after them.

They are supposed to be the same men who operated in Sharon this week.

Mr. Harris will make no changes at present in his clerical force, but may later put personal appointees in the subordinate positions.

HEBREW TROUBLE TO BE HEARD TODAY

Five People in Court Because Woman Objected to a Rabbi Teaching School.

The hearings of Victor and Alexander Silberman, Charles Miller, G. Angoersheo and Mrs. M. Komenitsky, charged with assault and battery and disorderly conduct by Arian Alsomovitch, before Alderman James R. Connor, will be held today.

The trouble between the parties occurred on Sunday afternoon near the Synagogue Beth Jacob, at Franklin and Townsend streets, and was all caused because the congregation has established a school for the education of the Jewish children of the neighborhood. Rabbi Aaron M. Ashinsky, who has charge of the congregations of the synagogues of Beth Jacob and Beth Hamedrash Hagodol, is in charge of the school, with a corps of teachers.

A man named M. Komeretzky has had a private school for Hebrew children for a number of years, and some of his friends conceived the idea that the establishment of a school by the Beth Jacob congregation would lessen the number of his scholars.

There is on the hill a set of Hebrews who are the followers of a man named Sevitz, who is a kind of leader or counselor among them, and it is reported that this faction took advantage of the feeling in regard to the school to induce Mrs. Komenetzky to stop the Rabbi Ashinsky on his way to the synagogue and upbraid him for teaching in the school.

H. Stern, a leading member of the congregation of Beth Jacob, chided the woman for stopping the rabbi on his way to the synagogue and informed her that the proper place to talk to him was at his home. The men arrested, who are not members of either congregation, crowded about and then the trouble took place. A woman named Mrs. Davidson was injured, but last night had almost entirely recovered.

GERMANS WILLING TO SELL POTASH WORKS

American Prospective Buyers Receive Many Offers of Property.

LARGER FIELD FOR TRUST

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, April 29.—Since the appearance here of a paragraph in a newspaper, averring that S. D. Crenshaw and E. G. Spuisbury were in this city to buy up all Germany's potash works for the Virginia-North Carolina Chemical Company, a procession of potash owners has been waiting turns to offer them properties. Even the members of the closely-knit German potash syndicate are making propositions to the Americans.

S. T. Mortgen of Richmond, Va., arrived here from Paris today and had a two hours' conference at the Hotel Bristol with two members of the syndicate.

The mere announcement that the American potash trust was invading Germany caused the German potash owners keen sensations. Some of them are hoping for an enormously profitable sale, while others are dismayed at the prospect of a new and powerful competitor. It now seems probable that the chemical company will get secure lodgment in Germany.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Representatives in this city of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company admit that one of the purposes of President Morgan's visit to Europe is connected with the probable purchase of German potash works. The statement that the chemical company contemplates establishing branches in Germany could not be confirmed.

MOST GOES TO JAIL.

Chief Justice Refuses to Grant Certificate of Reasonable Doubt to the Anarchist Publisher.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 29.—The application of John Most of New York for a certificate of reasonable doubt in connection with his appeal from a judgment of conviction of violating the state laws relative to inflammatory publications was today denied by Chief Justice Parker of the court of appeals.

Most was convicted of having published in his paper an article which it was held by the court "tended to destroy the public peace." He will be compelled to go to prison pending the final disposition of the case.

ROOSEVELT PICTURES EXHIBITED IN PARIS

Portraits of President's Wife and Daughter Receive Praise.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, April 29.—President Loubet today inaugurated the old salon in the Grand Palais. There were 1,680 exhibits, compared with 2,092 last year, resulting in an improved aspect and a higher level of merit.

Chartran's portraits of Mrs. and Miss Roosevelt attracted a large share of attention and received high praise from the critics.

The Temps says: "The artist has rendered well the features, sober elegance and charm of the two ladies."

The American artists were represented by many meritorious works. Among the finest paintings in the salon were Detaille's two immense military pictures of the Napoleonic period, destined for the Hotel de Ville.

Gerome's patriotic statue, "The Dying Eagle," which it is intended to erect on the plain of Waterloo, was regarded as the leading exhibit in sculpture.

Steamer Captain Fell Dead.

QUARANTINE NOT NEEDED

Customary Precautions Against Infection from Cuba Unnecessary for the Present.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Although the season of the year has arrived when quarantine is usually established against Cuba, Health Officer Doty said today he had decided not to inaugurate the restrictions against that country at this time. Continuing he said:

"Cuba is free from yellow fever and unusual care is being taken to keep it free. The summer regulations will not go into effect before June and probably not then. I shall be guided entirely by the reports in future from Havana and other ports in Cuba. I recognize that the quarantine regulations against Cuba are a great obstruction to commerce and I wish to place as little hindrance to free intercourse as will be consistent with protection for public health."

The usual quarantine against coastwise vessels will go into effect on May 1. On and after that date until November 1 all vessels from domestic ports south of Cape Henlopen will be boarded at Quarantine.

Another Youth Testifies That He Witnessed the Massacre.

TREACHERY OF NATIVES

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MANILA, April 29.—When the trial by court-martial of Gen. Jacob H. Smith was resumed today, Pedro Bella, a boy "mascot" of Company E of the Ninth infantry, commanded by Capt. Thomas W. Connell, who was massacred by the Samar natives at Balangiga, testified that he saw Capt. Connell's death wound given by a boy of 15. The witness saw several other boys of the same age among the natives who took part in the massacre and thought he could, himself, use a bolo against a soldier.

Capt. Waldo E. Ayer, Gen. Smith's adjutant general, said he had been closely in touch with all the movements and knew Gen. Smith's plans, purposes and feeling at every phase. He added that on the general's arrival the coast was deserted, and he saw the same towns filled with people when he left. But so far as the people of Samar were concerned he met only one man worthy of respect who was sincere, patriotic and honorable. He must admit, however, that the man with this qualification was born at Marinduque of Tagalog ancestry.

First Lieutenant Vandeman of the Twenty-first infantry, who had charge of the military information bureau, described from the records the treachery of the natives of Samar.

Heavy Rains in India.

LONDON, April 29.—The viceroy of India telegraphs that heavy, beneficial rains have fallen in Bengal and Assam and that there have been local showers in Burma and parts of Madras. The prices of grain are generally stationary.

Earlier Consistory Planned.

ROME, April 29.—The pope has decided to hold a consistory earlier than he previously intended. It will be held in the latter half of May. No new cardinals will be created, and only a few bishops will be appointed.

A Pleasant Duty.—"When I know anything worthy of recommendation, I consider it my duty to tell it," says Rev. James Murdock, of Hamburg, Pa. Influx of Immigrants This Year Greatly in Excess of Previous Records.

SNARES OF THE SHARPERS

Railroad Officials and the Police Have to Keep Watchful Eye on Human Sharks—Inspector Layton Kept Busy Rounding the Helpless.

During the last two weeks large squads of immigrants have been seen passing through the streets of Pittsburgh. The immigrant is easily recognized. Leaving entirely out of consideration the matter of his clothes, there never were such telescopes or valises manufactured in this country as those in which the immigrant carries his possessions.

It is said that this spring will see fully 90 per cent more immigrants arrive in the United States than for many years past. As a result the railroads, the United States authorities and the police of several cities will be kept busy handling these new home and liberty seekers.

Immigrant Inspector R. D. Layton, who has had much experience clearing immigrants at the port of landing, at present has his time chiefly taken up with the investigation of cases of deportation. As the percentage of immigration has increased over that of former years, so the percentage of deportation has increased, for, despite all precautions, those who are certain to become public charges manage to slip through the lines at the coast. Many of these are stopped at Pittsburgh and turned back.

How Fleecers Are Checked.

The Pennsylvania railroad has maintained at Pittsburgh for several years an immigrant agent to look after the newcomers. A part of his duty is to see that those who wait here for western train connections are gathered in a special waiting room where they are made fairly comfortable and where "runners" for cheap hotels and "slop-shop" stores find it difficult to get at the foreigners to fleece them.

In the last two or three years foreign travel over the Baltimore & Ohio has largely increased so that now more of that class of travel passes over that line than over the Pennsylvania system. The Baltimore & Ohio has no special waiting room at its Pittsburgh station, but by reason of the vigilance of the station employes and of the police specially detailed for the work, the "fleecers" have but little chance to operate there.

In the last six months 25 foreign-born Americans have been arrested and fined or sent to the workhouse for trying to rob immigrants. A city policeman can usually be seen mingling among the squads of immigrants outside the Baltimore & Ohio station, watching for the "runners" who, under the guise of friends, seek to part the immigrant from his money by offering to change his money and giving him confederate bills, by charging him an outrageous price for piloting him to a boarding place or the home of the relative whose address the immigrant carries on a slip of paper, or even by picking the newcomer's pockets.

Trainmen Have Their Troubles.

When an immigrant train pulls into the Baltimore & Ohio station the trainmaster takes charge of it and sees that those whose destination is Pittsburgh get off with their belongings. With Slavs and Italians the difficulty is to get them off the train, for they seem to consider it a shelter preferable to possible dangers they see not of. The average immigrant actually has to be pulled out of his seat and made to understand that he can travel no farther.

When a big train of through immigrants starts from Baltimore or Philadelphia Asmus Jurgensen, the Baltimore & Ohio immigrant agent, boards the train and rides as far as Cumberland, "bunching" the immigrants and giving them directions as to their future course. He speaks seven or eight languages and dialects.

While the average railroad conductor is not desirous of running an immigrant train, the fact that he is chosen for that duty is proof of the confidence reposed in him by the company. When the immigrant agent is not aboard the conductor's duties are multifarious. His troubles begin long before the manufacturing regions are reached. As he takes up the tickets he tallies on a slip the number of passengers destined for the various sections. To each of them he gives a colored check. The slip is handed to the brakeman. That functionary goes through the cars picking out passengers according to the color of their checks and counting them off as they leave the train.

Work of Inspector Layton.

It is after the foreigners have been in this country for a time that Inspector Layton's troubles begin. Notified that a foreigner who has emigrated within a year has become a public charge, he visits the man or woman, learns when he or she arrived and at what port, writes to the port of entry to learn if the statement is true, and if verified has the immigrant arrested for deportation. If the case is one for deportation he reports it to the authorities in Washington. The deportation is then ordered and the inspector is delegated to take the man to the port of his entry, whence he is taken back to the port of embarkation by the navigation company that brought him over.

Tomorrow Inspector Layton will take Rade Pannovic to Philadelphia. He is a Croatian, 36 years old. He arrived on March 14, and it soon developed that he had consumption. Next week Ignatius Pfeiter will go back to Germany. He is only 19. His feet are sore, he cannot walk, and tuberculosis of the lungs has set in. He was sent to the poor farm, was dismissed, but was returned there again and again. When it became positive that he was a public charge the case was reported to Mr. Layton.

TO END FIRE SOON.

Federation and American Window Glass Companies to Shut Down May 15.

The officials of the Federation Window Glass Company, who have been here in conference with the executives of the American Window Glass Company for several days, left yesterday for their headquarters in Muncie, Ind. Both companies will end their factory fires on May 15, when the Independent Glass Company announces its determination, in spite of its declaration that an overproduction of window glass exists, to continue operation of all its 23 factories till June 15.

The American and Federation companies are expected to have a conference soon with the associated jobbers to arrange for the placing of another large joint contract, which will consume much of the output of the factories before the end of the fire and existing stocks.

New Railroad Projected.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., April 29.—A deal will be completed this week by which the Baltimore & Ohio railroad will secure right-of-way from Clayton, O., to this city, on which to build a road to the coal deposits at West Point, six miles north of East Liverpool.

BIG CONTRACT FOR CLAIRTON WORK

NEW ORE STORAGE SYSTEM FOR ST. CLAIR FURNACE CO.

McClintic-Marshall Construction Co. to Build Extension Trestle Work and the American Bridge Co. Will Erect Heavy Steel Bridge Across Monongahela.

The St. Clair Furnace Company, subsidiary to the Crucible Steel Company of America, yesterday signed a contract with the McClintic-Marshall Construction Company of Pittsburgh for a great steel railroad trestle, which is to extend from the level of the terminal railroad system of the St. Clair works at Clairton over the steel ore-storage bins from which the furnaces are to be directly fed with iron ore. The trestle will be 360 feet long with 12 separate spans. Extending from the trestle overhead will be a system of tracks, from which the ore in steel hopper railroad cars will be dumped to the steel bins. These bins will discharge the ore into small hoppers which will be carried by the conveying system of the Brown Hoisting Machine Company of Cleveland, O., to the furnaces.

The entire ore-storage and conveying system will be installed by the McClintic-Marshall Company, which closed part of the contract some time ago. This plant will require in construction about 1,500 tons of structural steel.

The steel bins will be loaded to nearly their full capacity during the summer months of lake navigation and at the end of this period they will hold approximately 500,000 tons. The furnace system of the St. Clair Furnace Company, which is now being completed by the Riter-Conley Manufacturing Company, will consume daily about 1,000 tons of the ore.

Directly connected with this ore-storage and conveying system will be the terminal railways of the Crucible Steel Company at Clairton. This system will be linked up with the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston division of the Pennsylvania railroad system on one side of the Monongahela river and the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad on the other by means of a great steel bridge spanning the river. The contract for this bridge has been placed with the American Bridge Company. The bridge, terminal railway, ore-storage and conveying plant system will cost in round figures $1,250,000.

The entire system will be completed in a year. The great new steel works constructed for the St. Clair Steel Company, subsidiary to the Crucible company, will be ready for operation in a month or so. The furnaces will be completed and the first will be blown in this fall. In the meantime the pig iron for the steel plant operations will be supplied by the merchant furnace interests.

The McClintic-Marshall Construction Company is rushed with work at its modern new works in Rankin. The older works of the company at Pottstown are about to be greatly enlarged.

FUGITIVES SURRENDER.

Alleged Ballot Box Stuffers Return and Give Themselves Up—Operated in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., April 29.—Former Deputy Coroner Samuel P. Salter of Philadelphia and Clarence Meeser and Joseph Rodgers of Washington, alleged ballot box stuffers, who jumped their bail in 1899 and have since been fugitives from justice, today surrendered themselves to the court.

Meeser, who was employed in the copyright division of the congressional library, and Rodgers, who was a lieutenant of the capitol police, were members of an alleged gang of 11 repeaters who came here from Washington to vote at the November election, when Col. James E. Barnett, Republican, of the Tenth Pennsylvania regiment, headed the ticket for state treasurer. The men were taken to the Seventh ward and are alleged to have placed 200 fraudulent votes in a ballot box in one division. George Kirtland of Washington, a member of the gang, it later developed, was in the employ of a local newspaper and gave the entire scheme away. Five of the 14 men were caught and were subsequently released on $1,800 bail each. All the men, it is said, with the exception of Kirtland, were government employes. Salter, Meeser and Rodgers disappeared and nothing was known of their whereabouts until they surrendered today. The men were again released on bail for their appearance at the next term of court.

COMMITTEES NOT ACCEPTED BY REFORMERS

President Lambie's Contempt of the Law Will Not Be Tolerated.

CHIEF ACTOR IS SILENT

Head of the Select Branch Denies That He Will Call a Special Meeting to Announce the Appointments and Refuses to Talk on Subject.

The presidents of councils shall appoint all standing and special committees, all committees being joint except where the business pertains to one branch alone, and in all committees the common council shall preponderate in numbers and have a majority of at least one, and so much of the twenty-third section of the act of April 6, 1867, as requires each council to appoint separate standing committees and hold four sessions each year commencing on the day of their first organization and on the first Monday of April, July and October, respectively, and provides for special meetings at the call of the mayor or a committee of council and prohibits either council from adjourning for a longer period than one day, is hereby repealed.—Act of assembly approved April 1, 1868, section 12, pamphlet laws, page 567, and Pittsburgh City Digest, page 101, section 11.

The presidents of council shall appoint jointly the standing committees. In all the committees the common council shall predominate.—Rules of Pittsburgh councils adopted April 7, 1902, rule iv., section 1.

Trampled on by Lambie.

The above are the act of assembly and the rule of councils which were trampled on by the select council combine, aided and abetted by President John S. Lambie, and his dictator, John Upperman. Broken laws, pledges and promises are strewn over the path of the combine in select council. President Lambie is busy at his task of appointing the separate committees of select council, which are expressly forbidden by the above act of assembly passed in 1868. The act quoted is taken from the Pittsburgh city digest, which was compiled in 1897, and which bears the indorsement of Clarence Burleigh, who at the time was city attorney. Mr. Burleigh is recognized as one of the leading lawyers at the Allegheny county bar, and has been the counsel of the machine for 20 years.

President Lambie denied yesterday afternoon that a special meeting of select council would be called to announce these appointments, and said that he would not discuss the matter. The president of the select branch is firmly settled in his course of trampling on the law, and, as he will not be a candidate for re-election, the people have little recourse further than to retire the old holdover members who have made it possible for him to get into such a position of authority.

The select council committees when they are announced by President Lambie will be composed as follows:

Committees Appointed.

Libraries—R. H. Douglas and James J. Booth.

No appointments on these separate committees will be accepted by the reform element. No attention will be paid to them, as they are illegal, as shown above, the act under which separate committees are appointed in cities of the second class being repealed. The reform element in common council will not follow this plan, but will do business according to law as they have been doing.

Men are only boys grown tall. In such a case what is needed is not a violent physic that will rack the tender bowel tissues, but Cascarets Candy Cathartic, gentle but sure to act at once and put things right. The Contract Jumpers Are in a Sorry Way

Pirates and Cardinals Are Ready for a Clash Today on the Field.

League Games Today.

St. Louis at Exposition park.
New York at Palladelphia.
Brooklyn at Boston.

The Pirates and Cardinals did not have a chance to get into each other's wool yesterday. Both sides were anxious enough for the opening bout, but the weather man who was doing the referee act put a damper on the whole affair and drowned both teams out. Weather permitting, the clash will take place at 3:30 this afternoon, with Bob Emslie as the stakeholder. The postponed game will be played on Friday, which was an off day for both teams.

The downpour of yesterday, while it prevented a game, proved a blessing in one way because it gave the groundkeeper at Exposition park a chance to do some badly needed work. The floods of winter and early spring had left behind them a reminder in the way of a coating of mud which covered the entire field. This mud caked on top of the grass and there was no way of getting rid of it until a rain came to soften it and thus allow its removal. This coating of mud made both the in and outfields as hard as a brick and so rough that it was impossible to smooth it down.

Profiting by Experience.

That experience of Secretary Pulliam last Fourth of July afternoon when there was a jam at the gates which for a time threatened both life and property has taught him a lesson which he is working hard to profit by. The secretary has figured out a new scheme for the care of the baseball public at the gates which will simplify things to a great extent. The carpenters will start in today to change the entrances and fix things so there can be no mix-ups in the crowd. The grandstanders will have a separate entrance—the one next School street—and those who want 50 cent seats will exclusively use the entrance just west of the ticket window. Inside the gates the ground will be fenced off so that the grand stand and bleecher crowds will not come together in a general mix up after the games. This new order of things will greatly simplify matters for all hands.

When the champions appear on the field this afternoon the chances are they will be adorned in their traveling uniforms. The reason for this is that the white home uniforms which were sent out to the laundry on Saturday and were returned yesterday had shrunk to that extent that they will not fit the players. The shrinkage is so great that Honus Wagner's uniform is now too small for Tommy Leach, while the one used by the little third baseman would just about make a nightie for his 2-year-old boy. Some of the players tried to get their uniforms on yesterday, but could not get into them.

Has Talent to Spare.

The damage done to the park fence by the wind on Saturday last has been restored and the rain of yesterday washed out the river mud and gave the grass a chance to sprout, so that there is a complete and very acceptable change all round. The batteries for today's game will be Chesbro and O'Connor for Pittsburgh and Yerkes and Nichols for St. Louis. Both managers report their players in first-class trim.

Speaking of his team yesterday Manager Clarke said: "I am in a position this year different from any other manager and much different from positions I have found myself in heretofore. It used to be trouble to find enough good players to make up a team, but now I have so many good men that it is difficult to know how or where to play them. Just look at the talent we have sitting on the bench. Conroy, Burke and a trio of as good pitchers as can be found in any league. There never was a team better fortified than the Pirates of this year."

WILL APPEAL THE CASE.

Johnson Says It's a Fight to a Finish.

BALTIMORE, April 29.—President Ban Johnson of the American league was busy today. Speaking of the injunction restraining Lajoie, Fraser and Bernhard from playing with any other than the Philadelphia National league club, Johnson said:

"We have ample grounds for a new appeal to the supreme court, and while this is pending the injunction issued by the lower court will be raised. We will give bond and the three players concerned will be at liberty to play with the Athletics, should the decision again be unfavorable to us, we can take Lajoie's case to the United States court. The cases of the other two men cannot be taken there, because the amount involved is less than $2,000. Our attorneys are confident, and I share their confidence, that we will win out. Then the only redress the National league will have, is in a civil suit for damages against each player, before a jury."

AFTER THE JUMPERS.

President Hart Tells the Plan to Be Followed by the National League.

CHICAGO, April 29.—President Hart of the Chicago National league club, and a member of the league's governing triumvirate, said today of the Pennsylvania decision in the Lajoie case:

"The injunction cannot be circumvented. Talk of carrying the case to the United States supreme court is ridiculous, as the Pennsylvania supreme court is the court of last resort in that state. Speaking of the Missouri cases, Mr. Hart said:

"The National league is indifferent to an adverse decision in Missouri or any other state. Losing in any other state, we can simply go into Pennsylvania and secure injunctions which will prevent players of any club playing in Pennsylvania and Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, two important ball cities, are in that state. You may be prepared to see a long list of injunctions. It may be that the players we go after will not strengthen our team much, but the action will have a good effect on the future crop of players. Some of the men who have jumped we do not care about, but such men as Daly and Jones of the White Stockings will be enjoined, I believe."

Mr. Hart stated that the contract to which the Pennsylvania decision holds the players was drawn by the attorney for the Players Protective association.

NEW FOOTBALL CAPTAIN.

William Hammer Will Not Guide the Wash.-Jeff. Eleven.

WASHINGTON, PA., April 29.—Manager Craig, of the W. & J. football team was instructed by the college faculty today to hold an election for captain of the team for the coming season. A meeting was called for next Thursday afternoon, when all the college men who played in a regular varsity game last season will cast a ballot for captain. The order for the new election for captain of the football team was caused by the failure of William Hammer, who was elected captain at the close of last season, to return to school this year, as the result of alleged trouble between Hammer and the football management. Hammer in an interview, sent out some time ago, said that he had received unfair treatment from Manager Craig, and refused to come back to school. An autumn was made to adjust the alleged differences, and it was the general opinion that Capt. Hammer would return. Hammer came to Washington a few days ago but did not enter college. He was conditioned on two terms work in mathematics and was notified by the faculty that he would not be allowed to hold the captaincy of the team until he made up these conditions. Hammer is failure to make up the conditions, incurred by him, has declared ineligible to hold the captaincy of the football team, and the election of a new captain was ordered today.

St. Louis, April 29.—Arguments of counsel on the petition of President Robison of the St. Louis National league baseball club to restrain Harper, Wallace and Heidrick from playing with the St. Louis American league club were heard by Judges Talty and Fisher jointly. The courtroom was crowded with "fans," and President Robison of the National league and Secretary Hedges of the local American league were present. At the conclusion of arguments the case went over until tomorrow, when the opposing counsel will present their briefs.

Judge Russell of Cleveland and Judge Bond appeared for the plaintiff. In the course of his arguments Judge Russell cited the decision of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, which held that the reserve clause in the contracts of Lajoie, Bernard and Fraser with the Philadelphia National league club is valid.

Attorney Johnson for the American league did not deny the authenticity of the men's signatures to National league contracts, but declared that the contracts in question were unconstitutional because one-sided.

SCHOOL GOLFERS ARE AMBITIOUS

SHADYSIDE'S STRONG TEAM WILL CHALLENGE LEAGUE CLUBS.

Academy's Audacity Is Supported by Some of the Best of Local Players Among the Students—Were Factors Last Year Defeating Older Players.

Shadyside academy is anxious for new laurels and will this season tackle golf for all there is in it. Not only will the school boys have a team numbering some of the best golfers of the local district, but they are ambitious for a little more than intermittent matches with the weaker club teams. It was announced yesterday by the golfing element of the school that they would go after the strongest teams in Western Pennsylvania and would challenge all the sixes of the Western Pennsylvania league.

This means that the Shadyside youths will have a chance to reap an abundance of glory by the defeat of grown men easily old enough to be their fathers. For the Shadyside team will include some players who in open tournaments last season signally defeated some of the best golfers of the Pittsburgh district.

Some Strong Boy Golfers.

J. D. Duff, who will be one of the members of the team, was the strongest player on the Edgewood Golf club team last season and will again serve in the championship matches, though when it comes to playing a contest between Edgewood and the academy Duff will stick to his alma mater. F. G. Kay, another member of the school team, won the second cup in the Western Pennsylvania open championship tournament at Schenley last year, some of the crack golfers among the older element going down before his art; Will Armstrong was a member of the Westmoreland Country club team in the league and will likely again serve when it does not conflict with his school matches; Sylvester Preston and Herbert Byram were both leading members of the Pittsburgh Field club team last season. For the sixth position on the team there has been no selection yet, though it will be well filled from the large number of candidates at the school.

Game's Popularity as a School Sport.

The ascendancy of golf at the academy, taking rank with baseball at a season when baseball and track athletics require so much of the students' attention, speaks volumes for the strong position the game has taken here, and the adoption of the game by strong-limbed school athletes is a convincing argument of the worth of what is often regarded only as a society pastime in the field of men's sports. Armstrong is captain of the track team and yet has time for golf.

In addition to the games with Western Pennsylvania Golf association teams contests will be arranged with the nearby out-of-town teams, such as Washington, Pa.; Wheeling and Oil City. The boys do not think the older golfers will treat lightly a challenge from the academy team, as from the known strength of some of its members the motives of a refusal might be construed into a fear of defeat.

PHILLIPPI AND POWERS.

They Were the Winners in the Local Billiard Match Games—Some Very Clever Play.

The evening game of the 14-inch balk line tournament at the Great Northern, between Roberts and Marshall, both scratch men, was the most interesting played so far. Roberts made the highest run, 24, and in addition to that there were fewer misses. The afternoon game between Phillippi (200) and Powers (180) was of a rather slow character, because the former played safety when these was any possibility of missing. The contest this afternoon will be Beymer (200) and Billings (170), and in the evening English and Jack, both scratch.

MANY FURNACES TO OMIT USUAL SUMMER REST

This Will Happen If Employes Can Be Induced to Forego Their Vacations.

LITTLE FEAR OF STRIKE

Consumers Averse to Paying Premiums for Quick Delivery Unless Necessity Is Urgent—Steel Combine to Increase Capacity.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, April 29.—The season of the year having arrived when the fancy of large bodies of workingmen seems naturally to turn to thoughts of striking, employers generally are taking close account of the feeling of employes. It is a recognized truth in the industrial world that one large strike is very likely to generate restlessness in other fields, and anxiety, therefore, as to the outcome of current negotiations between anthracite miners and operators is by no means confined to railroad interests.

There has been some talk of trouble with iron furnace labor. A careful canvass today of the principal manufacturing interests located here elicited the information that furnace operators generally are not apprehensive of a strike this season. The rank and file of workmen are better paid than ever before, and they seem to be satisfied with present conditions. It is customary for furnaces to cease work during the hot season for from two weeks to a month, and, no doubt a number of furnaces will follow the usual course this year; but much of the demand for pig iron that quite as many more will forego the customary vacation to employes and operate continuously throughout the hot season if the workmen can be got to do it.

Averse to Paying Premiums.

Furnaces are still having a great deal of trouble in making deliveries of iron on specified contract time. A number of foundries are still closed owing to the inability of furnaces to provide them with iron. As a rule, however, it is true that comparatively little spot iron is being sold, partly because the furnaces are not in a position to sell it, and partly because consumers are willing to pay the premiums that now obtain, only when their needs are absolute, and even then they pay as little as possible.

One manufacturer said today that a few shiploads of foreign iron would cause premiums on spot delivery to decline sharply; but these considerations have not prevented furnacemen from advancing prices about 50 cents a ton for immediate delivery.

It was admitted today at authoritative sources that the United States Steel Corporation proposes to increase its furnace capacity on a considerable scale. This statement is qualified, however, by the information that no matter to what extent the combine increases its own output of Bessemer pig it will continue to be a large buyer from merchant furnaces. The announcement of the combine's intention to enlarge its furnace capacity was unexpected by a number of trade interests, who were presuming that the United States Steel Corporation would confine its enlargements to finishing departments and continue to rely upon outside furnaces for all the pig iron it might need over and above its present furnace capacity.

Where Most Money Is Made.

Evidently the management of the combine foresees greater returns from equipping itself so as to provide for a larger percentage of its total requirements of pig iron. It is estimated that 80 per cent of the possible production of finished iron during 1902 is already under contract. The United States Steel Corporation produces comparatively little finished iron, and its policy will be to reduce its output of this product even more and to devote its attention more exclusively to steel.

Rise of Bank Stocks.

The shares of certain banking institutions in this city have made some phenomenal advances since the first of the year. Some heavy declines also are noted, but the course of the shares of most banks have been upward. A comparison of bank stock quotations in December of last year with the last reported sales shows that the shares of 13 banks of the Clearing House association have declined, while 28 report advances. The stocks of the remaining institutions are unchanged.

The most notable gain was 840 points made by the Fifth Avenue bank. The National City bank, which has decided to increase its capital stock from $10,000,000 to $25,000,000, reports a gain of 35 points since the latter part of December. The shares of the Gallatin National bank are up 20 points; Greenwich bank, a controlling interest in which was recently secured by Hanover bank, 110 points; Hanover National bank interests, 167 points; Merchantile National bank, 39 points; Pacific bank, 56 points; National bank of North America, which was recently acquired by C. W. Morse and associates, and later absorbed the Bank of the State of New York, 80 points; Irving National bank, 18 points; National Citizens bank, which was acquired by Hanover National and National City bank interests, 11 points; National Park bank, 53 points; First National bank, which increased its capital to $10,000,000 and absorbed the National Bank of the Republic, 40 points; New York National Exchange bank, 110 points; Bowery bank, 29 points; German-American bank, 17 points, and New York Produce Exchange bank, 12 points.

A Month of Dividends.

Railroad, industrial and miscellaneous corporations will distribute $53,705,161 in dividends and interest next month. This compares with $46,000,000 in May, 1901. The largest individual payments to be made next month will be a dividend of 1¾ per cent, or $8,928,437, on the $510,-196,400 preferred stock of the United States Steel Corporation; a dividend aggregating $5,087,785 on the stock of the Pennsylvania railroad; $2,166,115 on the preferred stock of the Great Northern; $1,362,500 by the American Tobacco Company, and $1,480,000 by the Pullman Palace Car Company.

In the matter of interest on bonds the only feature will be the payment of $1,-029,995 by the Chicago & Northwestern.

E. W. HARDEN.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, April 29.—Five new gravel mines will be in operation in the vicinity of Folsom, Cal., this summer. Two companies already are running full blast and cleaning up thousands of dollars monthly. Miners are enthusiastic and look for a return of prosperity equal to that of 1849.

The White Rock Placer Company, which is operating 65 miles northeast of Tuscarora, Nev., claims that it will recover $50,000 gold this year and that it will take ten years to exhaust its gravel deposits.

A rich strike has been made on the New Era, near Cartes, Cal., and the mine has passed into the hands of a New York person. The capacity of the mill, which is now limited to 10 stamps, will be increased and a larger force employed for development.

The copper mines on Pit river, Shasta county, Cal., are reported in good shape. They show immense bodies of carbonate ores. The Davis and Vaughn have a six and 12-foot ledge, besides two ore bodies over 200 feet wide.

A Vancouver (B. C.) dispatch states that gold dredging on the Upper Frazer river has at last proved successful. Recent test runs of the Fraser River Gold Dredging Company, which is at work near Lytton, went as high as $24 an hour for the whole day. The Boyd Company, which built a $60,000 dredger last fall, are operating ground and started work with fine prospects.

The sale of the famous Camp Bird at Ouray, Col., to a venture Corporation of London, is again announced. This time the price has dropped to $5,500,000.

Leasers on the Kentucky Belle at Cripple Creek, Col., have struck a body of ore in two veins at a depth of 15 feet. The ore body is three feet wide and yields as high as $180 to the ton.

Advices from Florence, Col., say the Bassick will soon be able to ship from 200 to 500 tons a day. Large quantities of ore are exposed in the Rector, which is believed will become as big a producer as the Bassick was in its palmy days.

Joplin's output last week was 9,411,230 pounds zinc, value $126,584, and 1,126,939 lead, value $24,494; total value, $157,078. One lot of zinc sold at $34 a ton, but the general price was $33. Lead was unchanged at $43 50 a ton.

Supplies from the face of the Iron Silver, in Park valley, Utah, show values of $1,530 gold and 38 ounces silver a ton.

Ore similar to that in the Con. Virginia has been struck in the Tonopah Fraction at Tonopah, Nev., at a depth of 237 feet. This strike

Pennsylvania and New York Central Deny Story of Purchase of Control—Anthracite Strikke Situation a Repressive Influence in Coalers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, April 29.—The movement of prices was confused and irregular all of today, and there was evidence of a diminishing speculative interest. The wide movements in high-priced stocks continued a feature, but the influence of the advances was impaired by some equally notable relapses in stocks where attempts were made to take profits. A case in point was that of New York, New Haven & Hartford, which fell violently nine points on an attempt to market a small amount of the stock because of the emphatic disclaimers from both Pennsylvania and New York Central authorities of the rumors of purchase of control. There was a late rally of several points in the stock. New York Central and Pennsylvania also quieted down from their recent activity and strength. In fact, there was very little show of strength throughout the eastern railroad field.

The session of the joint committee of operators and miners to discuss disputed points in the anthracite field was a repressive influence on all coalers. The decrease reported in Reading surplus earnings for March was an unfavorable influence. The very heavy decrease in net earnings of the southern railway for March was certainly not a stimulating influence, although it was accounted for largely by the notable increase in operating expenses.

Western Railways Benefited.

The western railroads on the other hand, were benefited by the crop news and by the weekly crop bulletin of the weather bureau, which was considered very favorable, not only regarding the condition of winter wheat, but as to the progress made in seeding corn and spring wheat. The grain carrying railroads were also helped by the special strength of the Northwestern stocks, which rose 10½ and 5¾ respectively. Rock Island gained an extreme 5⅝, but lost over 2 of it. The strength of the Wabash stocks and of the Wheeling & Lake Erie stocks was evidently due to the apparent certainty that the bid of the syndicate representing the Gould interest for the Western Maryland will be accepted.

The industrials were marked by quite as great irregularity as the railroads and changes there were constant and variable. A further advance in the foreign exchange market and a drop in the rate of sterling at Paris both contributed to narrow the margin still remaining from the gold export point. The money market, however, was still undisturbed. Much attention was attracted by action of the clearing house authorities requiring that institutions which shall be admitted hereafter to the privilege of clearing through members must first be established for a year and must maintain in their own vaults the same percentage of cash reserves as required of the members themselves.

A Check on Trust Companies.

They will be required also to furnish weekly statements of averages for publication. This action is calculated to put a restraint upon the multiplication of trust companies. It is carefully explained that the requirements are not retroactive, which is to say that they do not at all apply to the condition of the trust companies which at present enjoy the privileges of the clearing house, although that condition has been the subject lately of much comment and criticism, owing to the freedom of the trust companies from any requirement of publicity as to their loans and resources.

The bond market maintained a firm tone today. Total sales, par value, $3,-770,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

Outsiders Kept on the Outside

KANSAS WIRES ANOTHER CROP DAMAGE STORY

Conditions Favorable for Bull Campaign in Wheat, but Buyers Hesitated.

SAND COVERS THE FIELDS

Advices from the Dakotas Say Winds Have Covered Growing Wheat. Old Article Hard to Buy at First Hands—Oats Close Lower.

Chicago, April 29.—Grain traders seemed in doubt today what side of the market to espouse. Had there been anything worth while to the outside buying the bullish influences at hand might have pushed prices up for a good advance. As it was, the professional speculator was too prominent to allow a broad market, and July wheat closed only ¼@¾c higher and July oats ⅝c lower. Provisions closed 2½c higher to 2½c lower.

Wheat was firm and higher at the opening. Liverpool cables did not show a decided response to the break here yesterday, receipts were still small and Kansas was still sending in woeful reports of her crop condition. Both the northwest and the southwest contradicted the report that farmers' deliveries were more liberal, and said wheat was as hard to buy from first hands as at any time. Reports from North Dakota said winds covered many of the fields and that acreage will be reduced and that the ground would not be in fit condition to plow until the middle of May. On the other hand rains were copious in most of the Ohio valley.

Buying Turns to Selling.

There was a little spurt of buying at the start, but as yesterday this turned to a selling pressure later and early gains were lost. Professionals, however, continued to buy in the dull market and prices reacted slightly. July opened ¼c higher to unchanged at 75¼c to 75⅜c, advanced to 75⅝@75¾c, and closed firm ¼@⅜c up at 75⅝@75¾c. Local receipts were 13 cars, 1 of contract grade; Minneapolis and Duluth reported 135 cars, making a total for the three points of 208 cars, against 233 last week and 823 a year ago. Primary receipts were 225,000 bushels, compared to 407,000 bushels last year. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour equaled 456,000. The seaboard reported five loads taken for export to France.

Fair outside by the most prominent bull interests supported corn again today. Trade, however, was dull, the outsiders kept out of the market and the close showed only a slight improvement. Cables were firm considering our position yesterday, but this influence was offset by liberal rains in the corn country. Offerings were expected to increase in the interior and receipts here were slightly better.

Offerings Taken on Recessions.

Offerings in futures, however, were readily taken up at any decline. Dullness of the trade kept the market from good advances. July sold at 64⅛@64¼c and closed firm, ⅛@¼c up at 63⅝@63⅞c. Receipts were 128 cars.

Oats received almost no assistance from corn or wheat. The recent heavy rains were deemed beneficial to the sown oats and receipts were much more liberal than of late. The cash demand was fair, but country offerings were expected to supply the demand easily. Some small offerings on the dull market caused recessions and July after opening steady at 37c, closed weak, ⅝c lower at 36⅜c. Receipts were 286 cars.

A good demand for lard, especially by packers, and the firm hog and grain situation upheld provisions. There was almost an entire absence of outside profit-taking, though scattered selling of pork took off much of the early gains. Trade was dull. July pork closed 2½c lower at $17 00, July lard 2½c higher at $10 12½, and July ribs a shade up at $9 50.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 30 cars; corn, 75 cars; oats, 130 cars; hogs, 27,000 head.

The only approach to ...g worthy of comment was in United ...Steel common, which sold almost ...tives. It opened at 42⅜, went up ...lost it again, closing ⅝ lower than ...Monday. The preferred was not dealt in, but finished at 93¾ bid. Crucible Steel common sold 700 shares and closed weak and ¾ off at 22¼, the lowest price in weeks. The preferred lost ⅛ at 86¾. 225 shares having sold. There was nothing noteworthy about either. American Window Glass common, which can generally be relied upon for something interesting when it is wanting elsewhere, failed ignominiously, only 190 shares selling. It closed weak at 62¼, a loss of ⅝, but offered still lower at 62¾. The preferred quoted at 93@94 without sales. Westinghouse Electric seconds tried hard to get into action, but they, too, fell short, only a little over 400 shares selling. They closed barely steady at 113⅛, a loss of ⅛. The firsts were quoted at 114@115¾. Westinghouse Airbrake, which afforded so many thrills last week, sold 15 shares at 180½, a loss of ½. And so all through the list. It was just dull, and then a little more dull, prices ranging very little, but generally a shade lower. Bonds were also dull, only $11,000 Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville Street Railway 5s finding a buyer at 101½, the last price.

for Clark's Salt Lake-Los Angeles construction will give an "all Gould" transcontinental road.

United States Fireproofing 68 quoted at 100½ bid.

McFarlane offered 1,000 Trade Dollar Mining at $2.

Hall Ltd 387½ for Colonial Trust; it offered at 393.

Gates people are talking bullish on Illinois Central again.

Peoples National bank advanced to 361 bid, and offered at 375.

At opening Sproul & Co. bid 41¾ for 500 shares Marsden.

$5,000 St. Clair Furnace Company 5s offered at 102½ and interest.

The first sale of the day was 10 Pittsburgh Coal preferred at 90¾.

Rights on United States Steel preferred are estimated at 2 per cent.

Not a share of Fire Proofing stock changed hands before 12:30 o'clock.

Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville Street Railway 5s closed at 101¼ bid, 101¾ asked.

There is very little doing in the market by arbitrage houses, and that little being generally on the selling side.

S. C. Applegate, cashier of the Mechanics' National bank, sails this week for Europe, to be gone two months.

Money continued easy in New York and the banks thus far show a very slight loss in cash to the sub-treasury.

The largest single trade of the forenoon was 350 United States Steel common, Hill selling to Robinson Bros. at 42⅝.

Chicago dispatches intimate that the Monon is to be merged with the Louisville & Nashville and used as the latter's Chicago outlet.

London seems apprehensive of the settlement of the South African question May 5, a postponement in the negotiations being feared.

One dozen different securities were traded in during the first half hour, the heaviest business being in Crucible Steel common, which sold 550 shares at 22¾@22½.

The western buying of United States Steel has been considerable and there is no such bear talk on these issues it is possible that a move upward is contemplated.

At the opening Hall bid 128½ for 500 Louisville & Nashville and Sproul offered 129 asked. The latter then bid 42⅛ for 500 United States Steel and 41¾ for 500 Marsden.

The announcement of a $5,000,000 bond issue by Brooklyn Rapid Transit explains the recent marking up of the price of the stock. It is as well to give some value to the convertible feature and this is probably the cause of the recent buying.

Before 2 o'clock five different members of the banking group were traded in, this being more than the average for an entire day. They were Guarantee Title & Trust, Allegheny Trust, Lincoln National bank, Arsenal bank and Exchange National bank.

The Heinze people are credited with the buying in Amalgamated to make their new combination look good. It is at least (so it is argued) desirable that the public should believe a step has been made in the direction of consolidation of all copper interests.

In spite of a fairly well grounded belief that the Gates crowd was buying Reading, there seems a rather liberal supply of the coalers on sale in advance. Advices say that the miners and operators are likely to come to an agreement, but if the bull pool supplies Reading now it is probably because it expects to see the stock sell lower.

The United States Steel stocks are the mystery of the street, for they fail to advance in sympathy with the general buoyancy of the rest, and the market generally; in fact they are a heavy weight on the market, and make it a long wait for marginal holders. Investment holders do not care any more than the rest as do speculators. All of the developments in the iron and steel trade show an exceptionally prosperous condition. The United States Steel Company has persistently refused to buy any of its product in advance, preferring to take only a manufacturer's profit. Among other reasons it has doubtless a desire to keep foreign iron out of this country and prevent the undue development of competitors.—Watson & Gibson.

Good Hay Scarce, Oats and Corn Lower

PITTSBURGH PRICES FOR FARM PRODUCTS

Navy Beans Go Higher—Potatoes Firm—Rhubarb Is Abundant and Cheaper.

Hay, Grain and Feed.

Very little good hay is reaching this market, and top grades of timothy hold firm at quotations. Corn and oats are somewhat weaker, and prices have declined. Demand in nearly all lines is moderately good, but buyers are not inclined to take hold with much vigor, the request is mostly for immediate requirements.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 9 cars hay, 5 cars oats, 1 car rye and straw, 4 cars corn, 3 cars feed; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 4 cars hay, 2 cars corn; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 10 cars hay, 1 car oats; Pittsburgh & Western railroad, 8 cars hay. Total receipts, 49 cars.

Following are the official quotations for hay, millfeed, corn, oats and straw, corrected by the superintendent of the Pittsburgh grain exchange:

Groceries.

There were no particular features in the grocery market yesterday, although there is a weakening in sugars, and those who followed the recent advances are confronted with the necessity for making concessions. Navy beans are a little stronger, and peas are higher. Sugar holds at the decline of Monday, while flour and coffee are steady and without change, although the weaker wheat market has caused a little less firmness in flour.

Flour—Jobbing trade: Fancy spring patents, $4 15@4 25; fancy winter patents, $4 10@4 15; straight winter, $3 60@3 85; bakers' spring, $3 60@3 90; rye, $3 45@3 60; graham, $4 20@4 50; cornmeal, bbl, $3 40@3 50; 10-lb cotton bags, 18@19c.

Butter, Eggs and Cheese.

The decline in butter has not yet been in force long enough to have much effect on trade, and the market is just about steady. Cheese is firm; a few lots of new appeared and sold quickly, but the new is hardly regular enough in its arrival to be quotable. Egg prices are nominally unchanged, but the tone of the market seems to be a little easier.

Horse Market.

Retail selling in the horse market holds up well, some good sales of carriages, for which fair prices are obtained. The auction sale yesterday was not up to the standard of last week, however, as the offerings were large. Offerings amounted to 120 head, which were sold. The figures averaging from $5 to $7 50 less than those of last Tuesday.

The sale of 200 horses at the East Liberty stock yards begins today to last until Friday.

PROPERTY IN SECOND AVENUE BRINGS $39,000

Henry J. Bailey Bought the Warehouses at Nos. 333 and 335.

$20,000 BELLEVUE SALE

Three Apartments for Forbes Street. Allegheny Congregation Bolts a $35,000 Offer for Property—Little Doing in Building.

Second avenue property again figured in the realty market yesterday at a consideration of $39,000. The property disposed of formerly belonged to the heirs of George Jacob Young and was purchased by Henry J. Bailey, the deal being negotiated by the Real Estate Trust Company. It is located at Nos. 333-335 Second avenue and has a frontage of 45 feet in the north side of the avenue and a depth of 80 feet. It adjoins the Yoder holdings in the rear of the Griswold hotel. Two brick warehouses used for general storage purposes occupy the lot. This sale is said to be the first transaction in that part of the avenue since the Real Estate Trust Company sold nearby properties to E. M. Ferguson 10 years ago. The rate of sale, $896 a front foot, shows that Second avenue realty has made a very noticeable advance during that time, especially in the district between Wood and Smithfield streets.

The undivided one-fourth interest in two parcels of Eleventh ward realty has changed hands for a consideration of $15,500. By the transfer Frederick Mugele acquired from John Jacob Stoer, Jr., the above-named interest in a lot 40x100 feet on the north side of Fifth avenue, just east of Dinwiddie street, and in an adjoining property 60x155 feet.

More Suburban Homes.

George L. King has purchased from Mary A. Woods 18.5 acres in Bellevue for $20,000. The deal was made through the Valley Trust Company of the East End. The property is situated along the proposed line of North street, at the head of Sprague avenue, and adjoins the Logan tract which Mr. King bought last year. It has a frontage of about 800 feet in North street and covers the hillside adjoining. Mr. King has already awarded the contract for surveying and grading the plot and preparations will be made at once to plot it into lots having a frontage of from 25 to 100 feet and a depth of 120 feet. As soon as the property is in shape to be improved Mr. King will begin the erection of a number of recention hall brick houses to cost at least $5,000 each. Seven similar houses are now under way on the Logan plot and the contract has been let for 13 more, which will be built this summer. Judging by the number of sales reported from day to day in the Bellevue district it is evident that no suburb of Pittsburgh is enjoying a more substantial growth. Door yards, lawns and porches are among the comforts which builders have provided for their customers, and the rapid rise in realty values is evidence that their efforts are appreciated by those who wish a quiet, healthy home.

Flat Area Spreading.

Three apartment houses to cost $24,000 are to be erected in Forbes street by A. A. Shaffer on property recently purchased by him from H. M. Gross. The site for the buildings is a lot 96x85 feet on the north side of Forbes street, near Grady street, and is known as part of the old Sheehan property. The purchase price was $9,000. The flats, which are being designed by Architect W. A. Thomas, will be three stories high and cover nearly the entire lot. The lower floor will be used for store rooms and the upper floors will contain 18 apartments of four rooms each.

At a meeting of the congregation of the Central Presbyterian church in Allegheny Monday evening it was voted not to accept the offer of $35,000 which had been tendered for the church property at the northeast corner of Anderson and Lacock streets. It is understood that the property is wanted as a site for Swift & Co., whose present site in Church avenue is in the way of the Ft. Wayne improvements. The price offered for the church lot is $402 a foot for the Anderson street frontage, considerably less than has been paid by the railroad for property in Church avenue. The congregation is asking $50,000, although this is considered a high figure by brokers.

Bidders and Owners Afraid.

No large contracts have been awarded during the last few days, as the general uncertainty that prevails in the building world has either prevented contractors from bidding or has made the bids received too high for the owners' acceptance. Present indications point to a general tieup of building Thursday. The contractors show little disposition to yield to what they consider the exorbitant demands of the workmen and say they will remain idle rather than take the risks that a season of lockouts and strikes brings.

An early settlement of the wage difficulties would no doubt bring a building boom, nearly if not quite equal to the one that Pittsburgh enjoyed last year. Dealers in builders' supplies are rushed with orders and enough building operations are known to be pending to furnish work until January 1 for every man in the local field.

The best contracts announced this week are the following: Struthers & Hanna to A. E. Evans, the F. A. Long residence in Perrysville avenue, Allegheny, $6,500; C. L. Phillis to William Waite, a warehouse and water works for William Lanz & Son, $6,000.

A New Warehouse.

J. H. Scott has let to W. F. Trimble & Sons the contract for the warehouse of the McKinney Manufacturing Company in Allegheny, and to Kerr & Fox remodeling the Seventh Avenue hotel, $5,000; William Kaufman, for the American Fridge Company, steel work for the Greensburg court house; and to R. H. Martin, the Theodore Hostetter machine shops, $4,000; F. C. Sauer, to George Kanzner the Werner stable and dryhouse, $6,500; Reis & Beatty, to Kerr & Fox the brick work on the Sixth United Presbyterian church.

Uniontown is to have a new hospital. The plans for the proposed structure are being prepared by Architects H. S. Bair of this city and Andrew F. Cooper of Uniontown. The building as contemplated will be 100x150 feet, three stories high, built of pressed brick and finished in a manner to bring the cost up to at least $30,000.

Architect D. Knox Miller has closed bids on the brick and stone residence of E. L. Hackney at Uniontown. The house will cost about $25,000.

The Chartiers Realty Company is preparing to build four apartment houses at McKees Rocks at a cost of $80,000. The buildings are to be four stories high and were designed by Architect W. A. Thomas.

SPREADING OF RAILS DITCHES A HEAVY TRAIN

California Limited Wrecked Near Medill, Mo., and Five Persons Are Killed.

23 ARE BADLY INJURED

Train Was Running More Than a Mile a Minute—Farmers Render Aid—Relief Train Carries Victims to Hospital at Fort Madison.

Keokuk, Ia., April 29.—The California limited on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road, eastbound, was derailed on a curve at Cama, a switch five miles west of Medill, Mo., today while going at tremendous speed.

Five persons were killed and 23 injured.

THE DEAD ARE:

S. T. FRENCH, Chicago.
MR. WEITHEINER, San Diego, Cal.
SON OF HENRY C. GATES of Australia, 5 years old.
TWO OTHERS, names not obtainable.

The injured include Conductor Charles Sargent and a twin sister of the Gates boy. The parents of the twins were also badly bruised.

Mr. and Mrs. Gates were en route from Australia and were with their children in the dining car when the wreck occurred. The train was over an hour late and passed Wyaconda, the last station west, at the rate of 65 miles an hour. When the heavy train struck the curve at Cama the rails spread.

The train consisted of two mail cars, seven Pullmans and one dining car. The mail cars, the dining car and the two forward sleepers went into the ditch. The tender was ditched, but the engine remained on the track. The derailed coaches were smashed to kindling wood, even the axles being bent out of shape.

The conductor went to a farm house and telephoned a report of the wreck. The railroad officials then hurried a relief train from Fort Madison. The trainmen worked nobly, assisted by unhurt passengers and neighboring farmers. The place of the wreck is distant from all communication. Every effort is being made to complete the list of dead and wounded, but most of the latter are in the railroad hospital at Fort Madison and those in charge refuse information.

COMPLIMENT TO FRANCE.

Entire North Atlantic Squadron Is Likely to Meet the Rochambeau Representatives.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—(Special.)—As a mark of special courtesy to France, the North Atlantic squadron probably will meet the cruiser Gaulois, which will bring to the United States the representatives of the Rochambeau and Lafayette families and of the French republic. The cruiser will arrive in ample time for her guests to reach Washington to participate in the ceremonies connected with the unveiling of the statue of Count de Rochambeau.

Late this afternoon the state department was notified that the French representatives would take passage on the Gaulois, which will come direct to Baltimore. Assistant Secretary of State Pierce, representing the president; Col. Bingham, representing the army, and Commander Rodgers, representing the navy, probably will greet the visitors on the cruiser.

Train Was Running Itself.

TOLEDO, O., April 29.—Clement Harper, an engineer on a northbound train on the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad, was rendered unconscious while running his engine today. His fireman knew nothing of the engineer's condition until the latter failed to whistle for a crossing. It is believed he was struck by a mail crane.

GROUND WANTED FOR THE BRIDGE

DIRECTOR McCANDLESS TO CONDEMN SOUTH SIDE LAND.

After This Is Done the City Has Little Chance to Complete Proposed Twenty-Second Street Bridge Approach Because of Legal Tangle.

Director J. Guy McCandless has taken up the question of an approach to the South Twenty-second street bridge and has ordered condemnation proceedings to obtain enough ground for an approach 100 feet in width. The act of 1895 has been declared null and void by City Solicitor Thomas D. Carnahan and this takes from the director the power to do this work. It could be done under the act of 1891 if the property owners would consent, but this they have refused to do. When asked yesterday how he would get around the law on the matter Director McCandless refused to discuss it.

The money for the improvement is furnished by the bond issue which appropriated money to the amount of $250,000. This was placed in the bond issue as a sop to the South Side to get the property owners to vote for the bond issue. The intention as announced at that time was to buy enough property there to make a park at the South Side approach to the bridge, but the land was never bought, for the reason that the city had not enough money to buy it. The finance committee which placed the amount in the bond issue knew there was not enough money to do this work, but the people of the South Side did not find it out until the bond issue had been voted.

The matter rested for several years, and two years ago several ordinances were introduced for condemnation proceedings, but the finance committee strangled the ordinances. The scheme then was greater than it now is. This time the director wants only an approach 100 feet in width, to come from both sides of the street. The majority of the land wanted is contained in the property of Josephine Y. Breeze. The ordinance is now in the hands of the committee on public works.

The street act of 1895, under which the street would have to be opened after the land is secured by condemnation proceedings, is null and void according to the decision of the city solicitor, and the improvement will stop at that point, for the abutting property owners would not sign a petition by which the work could be done under the act of 1891.

The park scheme was abandoned because the bond issue says nothing about a park and therefore the city could not condemn and pay it out of this fund. The corpse of the act of 1895 stands before the new proceeding. If the city could secure the land by amicable negotiations it would then be possible to place a park there. The land which is now wanted will in no wise exhaust the fund and the money will lay in the banks with the city paying 4 per cent interest on the bonds and getting 2 per cent from the banks.

Director McCandless would not talk about the matter yesterday afternoon, saying that he would take up the question after the ordinance was passed. It is probable that this item in the bond issue will lie dormant with many others.
